

SPEAKS TO FARMERS OF NORTHERN NEW YORK

Four Audiences of Rural Voters Hears Hughes Saturday

Republican Candidate Talks Chiefly on Policies Affecting Agriculture—Asserts Maintenance of Rights on Land and Sea Essentially to all Prosperity and Progress.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Charles E. Hughes campaigned today among the farmers of northern New York. Three audiences of rural voters heard him during the day and another here tonight. He spoke chiefly on Republican policies affecting agriculture. The protective tariff, the need of protection to meet the competition of an energized Europe after the war and the Adamson law, were the nominee's chief topics. Maintenance of American rights on land and sea, he declared was essential to all prosperity and progress.

"We shall accomplish nothing in this country unless we have the driving power of patriotic sentiment," he declared. "There is no future for a decent people. We don't want war. I am amazed at the audacity of the assertion that a vote for me is a vote for war. I am a man devoted to peace. As I look forward to the future there is nothing that I more keenly desire than an international organization which will tend to promote the peace of the world when this awful conflict is at an end."

No Peace with Weak Policy.

"You cannot hope to maintain your peace if you present to the world the spectacle of timid people who have forgotten the courage and indomitable spirit of the founders and preservers of this nation, a people that backs and backs and talks and talks and talks and never stands. There is no peace for the United States with such a policy."

Mr. Hughes was nearly run down by his own special train at Oswego. A nervous chauffeur drove the automobile containing the nominee past the landing at the railway station, directly across the tracks in front of the slowly approaching train. A sharp curve and a cut hid the train from view and the blaring of a brass band drowned the noise of its approach. Hundreds of persons were massed about the car. When the engine came into view it was less than thirty feet from the nominee's automobile. The chauffeur backed into the car behind and the engine jammed on the emergency brakes. A combination prevented an accident. There was a scramble for safety by the crowd and no one was injured.

Meets Many Old Friends.

In his tour today Mr. Hughes went over much of the ground where he campaigned ten years ago and again afterward, while seeking election as governor of New York. He recognized many old friends and was frequently greeted as "Chailey" by the crowd.

Let not labor deceive itself with the illusion that we can maintain the prosperity we now enjoy, based on the exceptional demands of the war," he told his audience at Oswego, in discussing the tariff. "We are cherishing the notion of a prosperity suddenly created and destined to cease when the war ends. This is coming and you can't dispose of it by phrases. You can't meet it by words. It is there, it is going to come."

The anti-dumping provision of the revenue act was characterized as fiscal, unworkable, practically useless.

"Why did our opponents put those provisions in?" he said. "Did they put them in because there was no such danger? Well, it is a very odd thing to pass a long statute with regard to an event they know will not take place. They made a confession that the endeavor to meet the condition which they now say will not arise. But how did they meet it? They met it in a way that was practically of no account because of the qualifying phrases with which they dressed their statute. x x x x x They do not believe now in the protective principle."

Mr. Hughes quarrel with them. Many of them are good friends of mine. We're dealing in this campaign with conditions of American life, not with personal relations. We are dealing with business, not with questions of acquaintanceship or friendship and the fact remains that they do not believe in the protective principle."

He said four years ago it was unconstitutional to apply it. They have not taken it back.

"They have provided a tariff commission. I welcome it and believe in it, but you have got to have a majority in congress—it is congress that passes bills—and elect one that believes in a protective principle or you will never get it."

Mr. Hughes assailed the enactment of the Underwood law with reference to the low duties on agricultural products.

"We must never forget that we need in this country," he said, "particularly in the coming years, a more intensive application in agriculture than we have had."

"We want work on the farm dignified, that there will be prosperity among our farmers and we want our agricultural department controlled with the highest efficiency and if I am elected as I expect to be, nothing will give me greater pleasure."

"But we cannot expect to deal with this satisfactorily if we ignore the great importance of developing our food supply. We know that our opponents intended and know that they did."

"They put the import of agricultural products, some agricultural products upon the free list or on a very low rate of duty."

MILITIAMEN ARE BARRED FROM CAFE

Illinois Guardsmen Claim Waiters Refused to Permit Them to Occupy Seats in Chicago Hotel Cafe.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Three members of Battery C, Illinois National Guard, who were mustered out today after four months' service on the border, resented tonight refusal of waiters to permit them while in uniform to occupy seats in a cafe of a local hotel and the police were needed to settle the dispute that arose.

The guardsmen went to the cafe after having been guests of honor at the University Club. They told the police the fight began when they were refused seats and that the waiters called them yellow dogs and bum soldiers.

Paul Grubel, the head waiter, said the guardsmen had called him names. No arrests were made.

VILLISTA MOVEMENT AIDED IN UNITED STATES

General Carranza Issue Statement to the Press

Asserts Villista Movement in Chihuahua Able to Continue Because of Facilities Given in this Country—Threatens New Complications with Mexican De Facto Government.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 28.—That the Villista movement in Chihuahua has been able to continue because of facilities given the enemies of the constitutionalist government in the United States, was the declaration of General Carranza in a statement he gave to the press today.

General Carranza added that this government would eventually suppress the rebel movement in Chihuahua. He also denied reports that the constitutional forces had been defeated by rebel bands in various sections of Southern Mexico.

Threatens New Complications.

Washington, Oct. 28.—New complications with the Mexican de facto government threatened today as the result of a statement issued here thru the Mexican information bureau and attributed to Luis Cabrera. It assails in sharp language American neutrality and the administration of immigration laws as regards Mexico. Mr. Cabrera is minister of finance in Carranza's cabinet and president of the Mexican commission now participating in the joint conference over border difficulties at Atlantic City and there are indications that his criticisms will not be ignored at the state department. While refusing to enter into any discussion of the statement at this time administration officers characterized it as extraordinary. It is known that steps to establish the authenticity of the document were taken under consideration immediately.

Eliso Arredondo, Mexican ambassador-designate denied himself to all callers. Altho the Mexican information bureau has been understood to have at least semi-official relations with the embassy, its status has never been clearly defined.

The statement, which bears the name of the bureau and the word "official" in addition to the introduction attributing it to Mr. Cabrera follows in part:

"A broad interpretation of the federal laws of the United States dealing with neutrality and regulating immigration with a strict, consistent and efficient administration of these laws by the executives to whom their administration is delegated would go a long way toward correcting the border disturbances and allay much of the unrest which at present pervades that region."

"The propaganda of revolt against constituted order is being promoted by scores of conspirators known both to the Mexicans and the American officials who by even the most strict interpretation of America's immigration laws should be deported from the United States. That the American government is competent to restrict and restrain the exportation of arms and munitions is probable by the fact that during the early days of the Carranza revolt against Huerta, these laws were enforced with a almost cruel rigidity against Carranza."

"Activity, energy, vigilance and persistence can correct the situation. Indifference, carelessness and heedless liberality, can only make a bad case worse."

A phase which caused much speculation was its possible effect on the deliberations of the joint commission. If the Washington government should find the statement authentic and deem it important enough to win a protest to Mr. Carranza's recall the commission's work might be indefinitely if not suspended altogether.

Is Read With Astonishment.

The statement issued at Washington today credited to Luis Cabrera, was read by the American members of the Mexican-American joint commission with astonishment and some incredulity. Mr. Cabrera, head of the Mexican commission, left here yesterday for New York, where he is expected to remain until Monday, when the conferences will be resumed.

"NEW YORK DAY" AT SHADOW LAWN

President Addresses Throng Gathered for Celebration

Wilson Asserts That Opposition Is Scrupling at Nothing—Reviews in Detail Record of the Democratic Party Toward Public Questions.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 28.—President Wilson, in a speech at Shadow Lawn this afternoon to a throng that assembled for a joint celebration of "New York Day" and Woodrow Wilson Day, made the charge that the opposition to his election is "scrupling at nothing" in statement of fact and policy.

"What are we to say," he asked, "of the patriotism of men who take advantage of a crisis of the world, when the fortunes of men hang in uncertain balance, when the peace of the great nation can be maintained only by the most thoughtful and considerate means to settle a question of power among themselves?"

In the course of his address, the president reviewed in detail, the record of the Democratic party toward public questions, declared that most of the issues of the campaign proposed at the outset by the Republicans have disappeared; upheld the eight-hour day for "everybody for whom it is possible," spoke of the interesting gyrations of the Republicans toward the tariff, and replied to assertions of his opponent as to what will happen after the war. Direct reference to the New York campaign was made by Mr. Wilson for the first time. He mentioned Samuel Seabury, candidate for Governor by name, and urged that a Democratic governor and United States senator should be elected.

The president did not read a speech prepared by him in advance. Headed by bands and carrying flags and banners bearing inscriptions praising the president, the largest crowd that has assembled here for any of Mr. Wilson's speeches came on special trains and marched a mile and a half to Shadow Lawn. The delegations included one composed of Tammany Democrats, led by John H. Voorhees, grand sachem. In an introductory speech Mr. Voorhees spoke of Tammany and declared he hoped to be able to march in Wilson's inaugural parade.

Reaches Culmination Point.

"The campaign that we are now engaged in has reached a point of culmination where perhaps it is possible and permissible to view the field and characterize the results," said President Wilson. "The field has been a very confused one, because the forces of the opposition are confused."

"Looking on the field as a whole, you can see that all that has been disclosed on the side of the opposition is confusion and futility. It is not singular that it should be so, because they serve under no single captain."

"It has been impossible to conduct the campaign as if it were a regular battle, because so soon as we sought some section of the enemy it was found that they had dispersed."

"It has been a confusing campaign because the public mind has never been permitted to center upon any single issue that they cared to stand for. Most of the issues proposed at the outset have so utterly disappeared that it is doubtful if they ever existed, and that because of an inevitable division of councils."

"They possess no stamp of definite policy. They suggest no line of definite action."

"In order to establish their prowess they have forgotten their manners. They want a peace indeed, but they do not want a peace obtained as gentlemen obtain it, but only as braggarts obtain it."

"We have peace. We have a peace founded upon the definite understanding that the United States, because it is powerful, is self-possessed, because it has no outside objects, does not need to make a noise about its rights at any time, does not have to proclaim its rights in terms of violent exaggeration. We have determined whether we get the respect of the rest of the world or not, that we will deserve it by the way in which we act."

"You know that there used to be an ancient art in politics—that art seems to have been revived—the art of talking without saying anything and the people of the United States, friends, are very tired of that. They look and they are looking with more and more admiration and confidence upon this contrasted picture: "On the one hand a body of men casting about for an issue."

"They see that this is nothing but a picture of forces that can not unite, of forces that do not constitute a party, and the imagination that I just now referred to is this; that I just now referred to is this, that the definite thinking for the opposition, are desiring to destroy the Republican party as it was in 1912 in order that they make it what they then failed to make it by organizing their opposition against it."

CANADIAN IS HELD FOR DEPORTATION

Bernard Harling, Charged With Impersonating Government Officer.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Oct. 28.—Bernard Harling, who claims to be a resident of Canada, is being held here for deportation by immigration officers following his discharge to night on the charge of impersonating a government officer. Harling was arrested here several weeks ago, after sending numerous unintelligible telegrams to government officials purporting to be in code. He said these were from many cities in Illinois and Iowa before his capture. The federal charge has been dismissed and he was immediately rearrested.

JURY IS CONSIDERING COPELAND VERDICT

Case is Placed in Hands of Jurors At 8:15 o'clock—Will Resume Consideration This Morning.

Galveston, Texas, Oct. 28.—The case of John Copeland, of Marshall, Texas, charged with the killing of William Black, an anti-Catholic lecturer, was given to the jury at 8:15 o'clock tonight.

Shortly before midnight tonight the jury asked permission to go to bed. Judge Briggs granted the request. The jury will resume consideration of the case in the morning.

Judge Briggs, in his charge, after discussing the considerations of motive, intent and malice entering into a murder case, and the conditions entering into that theory of self-defense, said that the jury, if it believed from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt, that Copeland, not in defense of himself, or others, with expressed or implied malice, shot and killed Black, as charged in the indictment, should find him guilty.

The charge continued that if the jury believed that Copeland, in company with others, went to Black's room to expostulate with him and to request him not to malign, slander and abuse the Catholic religion, then it was instructed that Copeland had the right to go to Black's room and expostulate and entreat him not to deliver such lectures. The court also said that if the jury believed that Black made a demonstration to do Rogers serious bodily injury, Copeland had a right to take Black's life.

The jury was composed of ten Protestants and two Jews.

An engagement in that district is expected soon. General Maycotte has 2,200 men in his command.

PROHIBITIONISTS GET ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME

Campaigners Warmly Greeted in Connecticut—Attacks on Hughes Received Without Enthusiasm.

New York, Oct. 28.—In thirty states the Prohibition national campaign has visited, none has furnished more enthusiastic welcomes nor outspoken "drys" than they encountered in Connecticut today on their way here from Boston.

Police forcibly ejected vociferous persons from the New London and Bridgeport meetings.

Discussion of prohibition plank of the party platform by J. Frank Hanly the presidential candidate, brought loud applause thruout the state, but his attacks on Charles E. Hughes, for his failure to produce an issue were received without enthusiasm.

Ira Landrith, the vice-presidential candidate chided New England, the "home of abolitionists" for the shipment of 220,000 gallons of rum to West African negroes, which, he said, he had learned today is about to be made from Boston.

Shaulis, 55 proprietor of a local hotel and Thomas Finley, 50, of Vinton, Iowa, are dead, and Mrs. Finley is in a hospital with two bullet wounds in her breast as a result of a shooting affray in the hotel, managed by Shaulis this afternoon. Finley fired two shots at his wife, two at Shaulis and killed himself with a shot in the head.

LODGE REITERATES FORMER STATEMENT

Reviews Lusitania Notes and Bryan's Resignation

Senator Lodge Reads Letter from Dr. Bailey, of Tufts Medical School, in Which Former Assistant Secretary of War Breckenridge is Quoted as Authority for Story of Postscript.

SOMERVILLE, Mass., Oct. 28.—The assertion that President Wilson at the time of the second Lusitania note was sent to Germany wrote and afterward withdrew a postscript informing the German government that the contents of his previous note were not to be interpreted too seriously, was reiterated by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in a political address here tonight. The senator added to his statement the announcement that information on the subject had come to him in a letter from Dr. Charles H. Bailey of the Tufts Medical school in which Henry Breckenridge, formerly assistant secretary of war was quoted as authority for the story of the alleged postscript.

Reviews Sending of Notes.

Senator Lodge reviewed the sending of the Lusitania notes and the resignation of Secretary of State Bryan. He continued:

"There was one feature about which there was much speculation at the time, and that was why Mr. Bryan allowed his name to be appended to a very strong note couched in the most extreme language possible to diplomacy and yet resigned so that he need not affix his signature to the very mild note of June 9th, a note which even a man of very strong pacifist tendencies could not have objected to. It was currently reported at the time that the reason for this apparently inexplicable action on Mr. Bryan's part was the fact that the first note as finally sent was not the note to which he had appended his signature. Without delay, Mr. Bailey's letter, containing direct information upon this subject, contained in the following letter which was addressed to Grafton Cushing, who forwarded it to me. This writer, Dr. Charles H. Bailey, professor in the Tufts Medical School, is a gentleman of high standing and undoubted veracity."

Senator Lodge then read the letter of Dr. Bailey, dated Oct. 24th. It follows in part:

"Dear Sir: As you requested, I am submitting to you herewith in writing a report of a conversation between ex-Assistant Secretary of War Breckenridge and myself. Leaving San Francisco on July 15th, 1916, I rode from that city as far as Omaha, Neb., with Mr. Breckenridge. During the trip I asked Mr. Breckenridge if he would be willing to answer certain questions with regard to the conduct of our national affairs during his connection with present administration. Receiving an affirmative reply, I asked him among other things as to the truth of the published report that he had made a so-called 'strict accountability' note. Secretary Bryan had informed Ambassador Dumba, that the Central Powers need not take the note too seriously as it was written for political effect and home consumption only. He said that in all essential details I had stated the matter correctly which led him to his own accord to tell me the following: 'This is not of course a verbatim report, but simply a brief outline of the story as told me by Mr. Breckenridge.'"

Too Good for Bryan to Keep.

"He stated that following the completion of the 'omit no word or no act' note to the satisfaction of the cabinet, Mr. Wilson without the knowledge of any member of the cabinet except Secretary Bryan himself, wrote a postscript which he sent with the note to the state department for codification. Mr. Breckenridge stated that both Mr. Garrison and he had seen this postscript and he told me what he claimed were its exact words, which however, I cannot repeat exactly, but the substance was that the imperial German government was not to put too serious an interpretation on the words 'omit no word or act.' On the contrary he would be inclined, provided the German government did not see fit to yield to the demands of the United States to use his efforts toward submitting the entire matter to an impartial international tribunal, the decision to be made only after the war. Both note and postscript were submitted to and signed by Secretary Bryan, this, according to Breckenridge was too good for Mr. Bryan to keep to himself with the result that it reached Secretary Garrison's ears, who immediately, with two or three (I do not remember which other members of the cabinet) called upon Mr. Wilson and demanded that he withdraw the postscript under the threat that otherwise they would resign and make the matter public. Mr. Wilson immediately yielded and Secretary Garrison and the others left."

Bryan Immediately Resigns.

"Immediately after this, President Wilson summoned Secretary Bryan to the white house and when the latter left, President Wilson had the assurance of his resignation, whether at Mr. Wilson's request, because Secretary Bryan had been responsible for the matters reaching Secretary Garrison's ears or whether presented by Secretary Bryan because there had been a previous misunderstanding between Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan that the latter would sign the note proper only with the understanding that such a nullifying postscript should be sent and the president was now unable to fulfill the agreement, Mr. Breckenridge was unable to state."

"I asked Mr. Breckenridge if he would be willing to bring such knowledge as he possessed to the active support of Mr. Hughes. He said that he would."

ENGLAND REPLIES TO BLACKLIST PROTEST

U. S. Officials Will Not Determine Upon Next Move Until Note Has Been Fully Examined.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The next move of the United States in the controversy over the blacklist of American firms will not be determined until officials have had ample time to examine Great Britain's reply to the American note of July 28, protesting it. The reply reached the state department today.

The note refuses the American contention which termed the blacklist "an arbitrary interference with neutral trade" but is understood to offer methods of relief which may lessen the rigors of interference. An American reply is almost certain to be made.

TEUTONIC FORCES MEET STRONG OPPOSITION

Roumanian Troops Repulse Austrian-German Invaders

Dispatches Report Recapture of Many Towns and the Capture of Russo-Roumanian Forces in Dobruja Continues.

Austro-German forces attempting to advance into Roumania along the Transylvania frontier are meeting with stubborn opposition. Roumanian troops taking the offensive at several points on the long front have repulsed the invaders and have taken more than 1,800 prisoners, Bucharest announces.

On the Moldavian section of the frontier, the Roumanians recaptured Piscut, in the Trout valley, and at Hulgues and Bleaz and in the Uzul valley took 1,100 men. The attack in the Uzul valley resulted in the repulse of General Von Falkenhayn's men and the capture of five machine guns and war material.

North of Campulung, Bucharest says, a counter-attack in the region of Dragoslave netted 300 prisoners. Further west in Wallachia, in the Jiu valley, the Roumanian offensive continues successfully with the capture of 450 prisoners and 16 machine guns. Berlin announces the taking of a height south of Kronstadt and declares that "otherwise the situation is not essentially changed."

The retreat of the Russo-Roumanian forces in Dobruja continues and between records that Field Marshal Von Mackensen is meeting with little opposition. Five hundred more prisoners have been taken by the Teutonic allies as well as several munition columns and baggage trains. In the region of Dorna Watra where Bukovina, and Roumania come together, several heights have been occupied by Austrian troops. Petrograd says the Russo-Roumanian troops were forced to fall back in that region, abandoning two heights.

French troops have captured a quarry northeast of Fort Donau-mont in the Verdun region. The repulse of French attacks there as well as Franco-British efforts on the Somme front is announced by Berlin.

In Volhynia west of Lutsk, the Austro-Germans repulsed a Russian attack with heavy losses to the attackers. In Macedonia, bad weather is holding up extensive operations. Except for small Italian advances in the Adige valley, in the retinto and southeast of Gorizia, on the Isonzo, there has been no change on the Austro-Italian front.

Laredo, Texas, Oct. 28.—Kalmán Kanja Volynsky, Austrian-Hungarian minister to Mexico, accompanied by a retinue of eight, arrived here tonight from Mexico City and left immediately for San Antonio. The minister and his secretaries were non-committal as to the object of their visit but admitted they would visit Washington.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT SPEAKS IN BROOKLYN

Colonel Arraigns Administration's Mexican Policy

Mexican Members of Mexican-American Joint Commission Hear Address—Asserts There is no Room in This Country for Anybody but Real Americans.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Theodore Roosevelt, speaking tonight before an audience that filled the academy of music in Brooklyn arraigned the Wilson administration for what he characterized its policy of wobbling between feeble and feeble war and feeble peace again.

The Mexican members of the Mexican-American joint commission—Luis Cabrera, Alberto J. Pani and Ignacio Bonillas—accompanied by their wives and Dr. John R. Mott, one of the American commissioners occupied a box at the meeting.

Colonel Roosevelt dwelt at considerable length on the administration's Mexican policy and declared that it would have been infinitely better to have kept General Pershing and the American troops out of Mexico, "than to have put them in," in the manner in which the administration did.

"President Wilson, the former president asserted, should have said, after the troops were in Mexico: 'Guess Again, Carranza.'"

"Mr. Carranza, you say we cannot use the railroads. Well, guess again." The Mexican commissioners apparently were only interested in hearing Colonel Roosevelt express his opinion on the Mexican situation, for they neither applauded, nor made any comment. When the former president had finished, they left the hall without remaining to meet him.

Colonel Roosevelt was interrupted frequently, but by friendly and approving cheers from his hearers. Referring to President Wilson, Colonel Roosevelt said:

"You can respect a captain who nails the flag to his mast and goes ahead, but not one who nails the flag to another fellow's mast and goes ashore."

The former president referred to Secretary of War Baker as a "nice man" who would fit better at a "pink tea" than as a cabinet officer. He added that Mr. Baker might be put in a corner or in front of a fire place with his knitting, and he would be an ornament to the fire place.

Departing from his prepared speech Colonel Roosevelt reiterated much that he has said in previous speeches concerning "hyphenated" Americans. He declared that there was no room in this country for German-Americans, Irish-Americans, English-Americans, French-Americans or anybody but real Americans.

Should be Day of Fast.

He declared that if today is what "our Democratic friends" call "Wilson Day" it should be "appointed a day of fasting and humiliation."

"For during the past three years," he went on, the people of the United States "have eaten the bitter bread of shame and trod paths of dishonor under the leadership of Mr. Wilson."

The colonel directed most of his attack against the recent declaration of Mr. Wilson that the present was the last great world war the United States can keep out of.

"We never have had any candidate for so high an office who was so utterly indifferent to the reversal of all his professed convictions or principles and above all, so indifferent to the flat contradiction between his words and his acts on almost every issue of real importance before the people," he said.

After quoting the president's words in regard to this country and the next war, Mr. Roosevelt said that "never have we had a greater degree of insincerity and hypocrisy than is contained in such a plea for re-election by the president who has himself practiced the coldest and most selfish neutrality when all these things that he in the abstract condemns were in the concrete committed as the expense of Belgium and of the Armenians and of the Syrian Christians."

Taking up the president's "appeal for support on the ground that he has kept us out of the present war, then it would be just in the future to keep out of all similar wars and if the president, on the other hand is right in saying that we never shall keep out of any such wars in the future, then he condemns himself for keeping out of this war."

"You say Mr. Wilson, that hereafter America must exist here whole force, moral and physical, throughout the round globe if the fundamental rights of humanity are invaded." Colonel Roosevelt said. "Do you not know that it is abject cowardice to say that this must be done hereafter when you do not dare do it now?"

COUNTERFEITING PLANT FOUND IN LOS ANGELES

Capture Counterfeiter Who Has Made and Passed More Than $50,000 of Spurious Paper in Seven Years.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28.—A counterfeiting plant which was said to have produced the notorious spurious ten dollar federal reserve Jackson silver certificate, was found today in the studio of H. Russell Wilken, when United States secret service operators from San Francisco brought Wilken here and seized the outfit after his alleged confession that he made and passed more than $50,000 of spurious paper in seven years.

Wilken's success for making the paper on which the bills were printed, it was said, consisted of

WHAT HUGHES WOULD DO

"You ask what road I propose to travel. These are the principles that mark it: An executive responsible to the whole nation, a cabinet chosen from the ablest men, a foreign policy that stands courteously but firmly and consistently for American rights, a flag that protects the American citizen in his lawful rights wherever his legitimate business may take him, a preparation for trade co-operation which shall protect all groups of American workmen, a government supervision of business which, while preventing abuses, will act as on the assumption that the average business man is honest, and finally, a domestic policy which looks to industrial peace and co-operation, not to industrial war."

The list of contributors to the Democratic campaign fund shows that Roger Sullivan is among the "truly loyal" and has come across with $5000 to aid in the campaign work. Other Chicagoans in the list are Edward B. Hurley, $5,000; Wm. A. Tilden, $10,000; Marcus Jacobowsky, $5,000, and Francis S. Peabody, $5,000. The last mentioned is the largest factor in the present combine of Illinois coal mines.

Carl E. Robinson for State's Attorney
In a national campaign year the candidates for president and governor naturally occupy the spot light. The attention of voters is oftentimes too much riveted on these positions. Citizens should not overlook the candidates on the county ticket. The office of state's attorney is a most important one and the candidate offered by the Republican party measures up to all the requirements of that position. By education, by experience, by legal training and practice Carl E. Robinson is qualified to enter upon the duties of that office and conduct its affairs with credit to himself and the constituency of Morgan County. Carl E. Robinson has laid the foundation for just such a position and he will meet the requirements of the office in a way that will satisfy the citizens of Morgan County. He knows how to be careful and at the same time is not lacking in courage and even handed justice for all will characterize his official acts.

Before casting your ballot for state's attorney examine the record made by Carl E. Robinson. He is worthy of the support of all citizens irrespective of party affiliation.

Land Prices Will Advance.

Bankers and landowners seem to be of one opinion that the present high prices for livestock and grain will give an impetus to the value of farm lands. It has been an acknowledged fact that two years ago a slump of $25 to $50 an acre came from high point which prevailed a year previously, and a number of local men believe that the former level will soon be reached and that this will be indicated in land transfers. With new corn worth approximately $0c, wheat near the $2 mark and hogs and fat cattle at proportionate prices, farmers are certain to have money and to be looking for investments.

Farm land has long been looked upon with favor as the safest possible investment. The interest returns have not been the best but the perfect safety of the investment had

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

Sweetest Words.

"Inclosed find check!" The sweetest words that e'er outlasted the song of birds! How they allay the widow's fears, and dry the orphan's briny tears! When sad and tired and short of kale, a letter comes by morning mail; like other letters it appears, with postage stamps and inky smears. "No doubt," we sigh, "it is a dun; some frantic gent is after mon. These beastly bills we can not pay take all the sunshine from the day, and make us wish that we were dead, with stacks of granite overhead." And then, with languid hands we tear the envelope to see what's there, and out there comes a note, by heck, with these brave words, "Inclosed find check!" Ah, then we bid farewell to woe, and like nine Brahms roosters crow, and to the soft drinks joint repair, and buy a quart of soapsuds there. The sun once more is cutting hay, the gloomy clouds are blown away, the world is glad that was a wreck, changed by the words, "Inclosed find check!"

THIS DATE IN ILLINOIS HISTORY

October 29, 1778—This is the date of the earliest document which has been preserved from the court established by the Virginians in Cahokia, the first American court in Illinois.

Morgan County Tax Figures

During the campaign of 1912 the Hon. E. F. Dunne in his campaign speeches decried and criticised severely the Republican State administration for its extravagance and our high taxes.

Morgan county residents paid $177,518.30 state taxes the last three years of the Deen administration. For the last three years under Gov. Dunne's Democratic administration in this county the people have paid $311,708.71 state taxes.

Think of it—Gov. Dunne's made up that deficiency. With present prices farms rented on shares will pay a fair interest return on $200 and $225 values, and conditions fully justify the expectation for an upward tendency of prices.

Who Passed the Woman's Suffrage Bill in Illinois.

The claim has been made frequently that a Democratic legislature passed the Woman's Suffrage bill. In fact, the following figures have been secured, which can readily be verified by the senate and house records:

In the state senate 19 Republicans and one Progressive voted for the bill, and only nine Democrats voted for it.

The house was composed of 50 Republicans, 25 Progressives, four Socialists and 74 Democrats. The vote stood: Thirty-five Republicans for, and only 15 against; 23 Progressives for, and only two against; the four Socialists voted for the bill, while only 24 Democrats voted for it, and 50 Democrats voted against it.

Counting the Republicans and Progressives together, they voted three to one for and the Democrats voted two to one against woman's suffrage.

These are the undisputed facts.

Schwab Tells How to Succeed.

"Money is the measure of success, but it isn't the real motive of life," said Charles M. Schwab, addressing an audience in St. Louis. The speaker should know because he is now one of the wealthiest men of the United States, and that is saying something, since fortunes have accumulated as the war has progressed. There is something wholesome in the millionaire's statement and in his advice to men to keep working. He said that sometime ago he received the offer of a very large sum for the Bethlehem steel works and he would not accept it because he did not see what pleasure he would have in life without work.

Mr. Schwab does not take much stock in that conservative axiom, that if one saves pennies the dollars will take care of themselves, and on the contrary gives praise to those men who are willing to take chances and who have the spirit to try again if they fall and make a failure. It must be said of Mr. Schwab that he is one of the very rich men of the country who, some way or other, has managed to still have rank among the plain people of the United States and has thus added influence to his position. So these cheering words about present opportunity have great force: "This is the age of young men. Their opportunity is today greater than ever before. The big banking and industrial institutions are constantly looking for young men who will be as faithful to their employers as they are to themselves. Brains in young men will not be paid salaries in the future, but will be rewarded with an interest and co-operation of the business."

"I am not one of those who would advise boys to save their pennies on the theory that dollars will take care of themselves. Like Benjamin Franklin, I believe somewhat in boldness, and that the return always is proportionate to the risk. I am optimistic enough to advise the taking of reasonable risks in life. Supposing you do fall once or twice or even six times—in the end you will be bound to succeed."

HOME GARDENING HINTS
ARE TIMELY NOW

Department of Agriculture Offers Timely Suggestions About Preparing Flowers and Shrubs for Winter.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—Steps to be taken at this season for placing the flower garden in shape for winter will vary with the kinds of plants grown and the latitude, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. In the case of perennials, which died down to the ground but which should live through the winter and send up shoots again on the advent of warm weather, the roots should be well mulched with manure three or four inches deep as soon as the ground freezes. In this group are included such plants as peonies, larkspur, hollyhock, columbines, iris, Pinks, clematis and perennial poppies.

Cannas and Kindred Plants.
Plants such as cannas, dahlias, gladiolas and Caladiums should have their roots dug up and stored in a cellar where the temperature will not rise above 60 degrees nor fall below 50 degrees Fahrenheit. The root clumps of cannas and dahlias should not be shaken free of soil. These plants with the soil naturally adhering to them should be placed on racks or in slat boxes so that air may circulate among them. It is important that the roots do not become too warm or dry and that no frost shall reach them. The bulbs of gladiolas, Caladiums and tuberose, on the other hand, should be carefully cleaned of soil and dried in the open air for a day or two. They may then be stored in the cellar.

Geraniums.
In all but semitropical portions of the United States geraniums must be taken indoors for winter. Florists usually make cuttings in the fall to grow new plants in greenhouses for spring use. This practice is, of course, impracticable for the average householder. The latter may take up growing plants and hold storing upright in boxes of dry soil in a cellar having a temperature of from 40 degrees to 50 degrees Fahrenheit. The plants may be placed close together with only a little dry soil among the roots.

Pansies.
While taking many plants indoors for the winter, the home gardener in a large section of the country should set out in the fall the pansy plants which are to make up the spring beds of these flowers. This procedure should be followed in the country south of a line from New York City to Springfield, Ill. The young plants should be covered by coarse manure at the first freezing of the ground before it has an opportunity to thaw.

Preparing Shrubs for Winter.
While a number of the shrubs commonly grown in the garden will go through the winter without injury if left alone, others must be given varying degrees of special attention. Among the shrubs which need no unusual fall and winter care are snowball, spirea, mock orange and lilacs.

Hydrangeas, even in the South, must have special winter protection and in the North must be lifted, set in tubs, and kept in a frost-proof cellar. An east and west line through Philadelphia is generally accepted as marking the boundary north of which it is necessary to take hydrangeas indoors. South of this line it is usually sufficient to protect the tops of the plants with straw or brush while they are in their outdoor locations. A little manure or straw may be placed on this covering to hold it in place. The brugmansia, or thorn apple, should be treated like the hydrangea.

The Instrument
You Were Born to Play

HERE IS an instrument that requires only a natural love of music—
the mere inborn desire for musical expression common to all—to respond to you as the piano responds to a talented artist.

The Manualo
The Player-Piano that is all but human is played beautifully by anybody who loves music because its expression is controlled from the pedals. Each pedal stroke does not merely make certain notes strike but it makes them sound with the exact volume and accent which your musical feeling desires. The force and style of the stroke are transmitted from the pedals to the piano strings as the striking of the artist's fingers is transmitted from the keys to the strings. It is as if the performer were in direct contact with the piano action, so sensitive is the Manualo mechanism to his subtlest wish.

Come in, try this remarkable instrument and get the book, "The A B C of the Manualo."

Loss of teeth is caused usually by one of two conditions—Pyorrhea or decay, both of which develop, as a rule, only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

SENRECO, the recently discovered formula of a dental specialist, is two-fold in its action. First, it REALLY CLEANS, embodying specially prepared, soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Second, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea. FIFTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Henderson Have Been Married Fifty Years.

October 28, 1866, a quiet wedding was solemnized in Jacksonville, when Amos Henderson and Miss Emily Miller were made husband and wife. The groom was the son of the well known Mr. and Mrs. Smiley Henderson, who lived in the little one-story house where now the Grand Opera House stands and the bride was the daughter of Henry and Sarah Miller, who had formerly lived east of the city on a farm, but had moved to town and taken a home on the spot afterward occupied by the brick office of the Russe lumber yard. The wedding ceremony was said by Rev. Joel Goodrick and the pair at once began housekeeping and the journey of life which they have traveled together for half a century. They first took a short wedding trip to Chicago and on the lakes and then began the battle of life.

Mr. Henderson served three years in Company D, 101st Illinois Volunteers, Captain Coffman, and later in the 123d Illinois Volunteers. For some time he conducted a grocery on the spot where now is the Farrell bank building and later he had a grocery and confectionery on South Main street, about where Sieber's place is. He gave this up in 1870 and followed the insurance for ten years and then was elected justice of the peace, a place he has since held along with his insurance business.

They are the parents of one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Depew, and one son, Herbert, three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

S. W. BLACK LAID TO REST AT EBENEZER

Funeral of Well Known Citizen Held at Grace Church Saturday—Many Gathered to Honor His Memory.

An unusually large company gathered at Grace M. E. church Saturday afternoon for the funeral service in memory of the late Samuel W. Black. Mr. Black had been for many years a trustee of the church and was accounted one of its strongest and most influential members. In the large audience there were many persons from both the Shiloh and Ebenezer neighborhoods. For a long period Mr. Black was an active member of the Ebenezer church.

The services were in charge of Rev. P. B. Madden, pastor of Grace church, and in addition to his remarks Rev. J. W. Eckman of Decatur, formerly a pastor on the Jacksonville circuit, referred to Mr. Black as he had known him. Dr. F. A. McCarty and Rev. J. O. Kirkpatrick also had part in the impressive services. J. Philip Read, by special request of the family, was the organist and hymns were sung by Mrs. J. Edgar Martin, Miss Lena Hopper, A. E. Williamson and Chas. A. Rowe. Three of the quartet had for years been singers in Ebenezer church. Mr. Read, long a friend of Mr. Black, played one selection composed especially for the occasion with "Rock of Ages" as the theme.

Before the remains were brought from the residence Rev. J. W. Eckman offered prayer. When the church was reached the services began with the Scripture reading by Rev. J. O. Kirkpatrick and Dr. McCarty offered prayer. The pulpit and the altar rail were massed with beautiful flowers, which were arranged by the grandchildren, Mrs. Bert Hargrave, Mrs. Robert Hopper, Miss Mary Black, Clyde Black, Paul Black and Eddie Black.

A Long Span of Life. Rev. Mr. Madden quoted various passages of Scripture with special reference to old age and the theme for his remarks was found in the text, "With long life will I satisfy thee and show thee my salvation." He said in part: "To Mr. Black it was given to live eighty years and that is, indeed, a long span of life. To my mind he represented a type which is rapidly passing, for his life covered more than half of that of our nation. It was given to our brother to live under every president this country has had save seven and if he had been born nineteen years earlier he would have lived thru all the years of Illinois history. During that lifetime this city grew and developed to what it has become. It was several years after his birth that the first railroad was built in Morgan county and he was here during various historic times, which stand out boldly in the record of this community. We can sit here today and know that in his time men were publicly flogged for misdemeanors, witches were burned and paupers were sold to pay their debts."

Time Not Real Measure. "You may think of these facts as being foreign to this occasion, but to my mind they are pertinent, as they show the changes which time has brought and the varied experiences which a man who has lived as long as Mr. Black has passed thru. But we do not live in years; we live in feelings and our age should really be measured in heart throbs. God gave S. W. Black a fine physique. He was a noble type of manhood and his will and intellect and Christian manhood made him indeed a conspicuous citizen. To him it was given to see his children grow up and occupy an honored place in the community."

He did not seek public honors and held no public offices save those in the school and the church—interests that he recognized beneficial not only to himself but to the community at large. Mr. Black was not surprised as the end came and to his soul was given the vision of the beyond. He was faithful in his attendance upon church services and loved the house of God and the hymn expressed the sentiment of his life, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord, the House of Thine Abode." Thru all the years he lived uprightly and God satisfied him with long life and showed him his salvation.

Rev. J. W. Eckman of Decatur referred to his early days in this community when he served as an assistant to Rev. George Rutledge and ministered to the churches in the Jacksonville district. In those early days he was often at the Black home and he and S. W. Black came into terms of intimacy which lasted thru the years. He was frequently the guest of Mr. Black, who had told him to make that his home, and the minister said he had come to know it as a house of prayer where the best things of life were honored and revered.

A Look at the Future. In a recent conversation Mr. Black had said, "I know that I can not stay much longer, but I am ready to go, for I know that I have tried to live in such a way that I would be ready when the final hour came." The minister said: "As I have thought of Mr. Black's death my mind has gone thru the changes which come to us in our views of death. As a child and a young man I had a fear of death and in some other after years this feeling had not disappeared, but later came the knowledge that we have victory over death and that when we go it is but the passage from the chamber of life to the chamber of eternity and there is no need of fear. S. W. Black lived uprightly and walked with God. He had no fear of the end and to you who are left comes comfort in the knowledge that he is awaiting you with other loved ones on the other side. So let not your heart be troubled. From the church the long cortege moved to Ebenezer cemetery, where Mr. Black was laid to rest in the family lot. There the committal service was in charge of Rev. P. B. Madden and Rev. J. W. Eckman. The bearers were Arthur L. French, Charles E. Patterson, A. T. Capps, W. C. Green, Charles Reid and Charles F. Leach.

HARMONY PREVAILS AMONG REPUBLICANS

Party in Fine Working Condition in Chicago and Down State—Colonel Lowden Talks About Party Affairs.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—The Chicago campaign opened with the coming of Colonel Roosevelt and his two big meetings in the stock yards pavilion and the Auditorium, where 21,000 people listened to him. Colonel Frank O. Lowden, candidate for governor, and the other Republican nominees completed their downstate trip and came into the city for the closing of the week. They arrived in time for the Roosevelt meeting and his endorsement. "Am I for Lowden?" asked Colonel Roosevelt. "Of course I am for Lowden. He is a Republican and I am for the Republican ticket."

Harmony in Cook County. The harmonious condition in Cook county and the state among the Republicans is illustrated by the support of the ticket by former Governor Charles S. Deneen, Colonel Frank L. Smith, of Dwight, Senator Morton D. Hull, who were Colonel Lowden's opponents, former Governor Richard Yates and Frank H. Funk, who was the Progressive nominee for governor in 1912.

"There is no question about Illinois in this election," said Colonel Lowden upon his return. "On both the national and state tickets Illinois will go Republican by large pluralities. Mr. Hughes has been gaining steadily. Farmers, business men and workmen seem to have reached the conclusion that Hughes and the Republican platform are more trustworthy than Wilson and Democratic promises. The women, who will vote for the first time for president in Illinois, will rally strongly to Hughes and Fairbanks. The state ticket is receiving cordial support and I have no doubt of the result on November seventh."

Sterling Confident. Chairman Fred E. Sterling, of the Republican State Committee, after receiving encouraging reports from all sections of the state, said he had no hesitancy in declaring that Illinois would give Hughes and the state ticket a big plurality. "Governor Dunne has made the mistake of distorting things," said Mr. Sterling, "and making untrue imputations regarding Colonel Lowden. He seems to have forgotten that over 200,000 voters have just given their approval of Colonel Lowden as the Republican nominee. No candidate ever appeared before the people in Illinois whose position on state issues is as well known as is Colonel Lowden's. He stands for a consolidation of the 130 state boards into major departments, for a revision of the taxing laws, for a reduction in appropriations by the budget system and for plain, practical, common business sense in government. He believes there should be a revision of the election laws and a reduction in the number of elections. This would mean a saving of more than $1,000,000 in Chicago alone."

Final Drive Begins. The final drive for the election has begun. The Superdreadnought—Roosevelt—aroused great enthusiasm in Chicago Thursday. Night meetings in every ward in the city are being held. Noonday meetings and outdoor speeches at the big factories in Chicago are daily occurrences. Chairman Sterling has requested all County Chairmen to hold noonday meetings with local speakers at all factories in their vicinity Saturday, November 4th.

Chicago and Illinois are safely Republican, but the party leaders are taking no chances. A meeting of the Republican State Committee and the advisory committee was held today to make final arrangements for the campaign.

CHARLES ROSE SEEKS OFFICE OF CORONER

Charles A. Rose, Republican candidate for coroner, was born in Winchester in 1871, so he is a man 45 years of age. After spending some years there and in Pike county Mr. Rose came to Jacksonville in 1892. For a time he was in partnership with his brother in the conduct of a barber shop. Subsequently he was in the employ of Louis Piepenbring. For the past eleven years he has been conducting an establishment on East State street.

Mr. Rose, during his residence in Jacksonville, has come to be ranked as an exemplary and useful citizen. He is identified with several well known orders and for years has been a member of the official board of Central Christian church. $500,000 MORE NEEDED TO ASSURE RE-ELECTION

More Money Wanted by Democrats to Aid Wilson's Campaign—Ford to Aid in Advertising.

New York, Oct. 28.—Henry Ford plans to spend approximately $100,000 for advertising thruout the country in the interest of President Wilson's campaign for re-election. It was announced here tonight by Henry Morgenthau, chairman of the finance committee of the Democratic national committee.

"We are depending on him," declared Mr. Morgenthau, "like we are depending on thousands of independent citizens who have the welfare of the country at heart."

About $500,000 more, according to Mr. Morgenthau's statement, is needed "to make certain of President Wilson's re-election."

A summons to New York invited Democrats to subscribe the larger part of this amount has been issued, he asserted.

THE MYSTERIOUS FOE

A Series of Stories About Some Illinois Men, Women and Children. Issued by the Illinois State Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis

TWELFTH EPISODE.

Mrs. Brown has the reputation in her neighborhood of being a "good housekeeper."

On at least fifty of the fifty-two Monday mornings in each year, she flings her family "washing" to the breeze before any of her neighbors.

She washes her lace curtains at frequent intervals and it is a common sight to see her busy shaking rugs about an hour after breakfast each day.

Her kitchen floor is so scrupulously clean that it is considered almost a "high crime" to walk across it with muddy feet.

She "cleans house" religiously each spring and fall. Her husband and her children live in awe of her very cleanliness.

The gruff old man who lives only a few doors away, has been known to take careful aim, hit an old tomato can with a quid of tobacco and say: "Mrs. Brown is all right but she's too darn clean."

If anyone even with perfectly good intentions, should say to Mrs. Brown: "You are very dirty about your sweeping," she would bristle up with indignation and probably hurl several choice bits of language at her accuser.

Should the remark be several times repeated, she might some time come to the conclusion that "there is something in it."

But until not one but several of her friends muster up enough courage to talk to her like all friends should talk to each other, she undoubtedly will continue to sweep as the picture shows her.

Of course Mrs. Brown is a woman of common sense. She knows that she raises a lot of dust when she sweeps. She can see it. Sometimes it almost chokes her and she has learned to wear a dust cap while she is doing this little chore.

She knows, too, that soon after she finishes sweeping, she will go over all the furniture with a dust cloth because she knows that a powdery deposit of dirt is being scattered over everything in the room.

Most times she uses a dry cloth to dust with because wet cloths mar the finish on the furniture. So part of the dirt is pushed off the furniture back into her carpets.

What Mrs. Brown hasn't yet learned is that "dry sweeping" which almost always raises a dust is decidedly a dangerous practice. Germs of diseases are so small that they often float around in the air on minute particles of dust. Some partly dried spit from a consumptive may be deposited on Mrs. Brown's carpets some day and she will stir it up with her broom and then breathe it.

THE SOLDIERS MONUMENT LAW IN ILLINOIS

Measure Under Which It Is Proposed to Erect a Memorial in This City.

The legislature of our state has passed a law regarding soldiers' monuments which is clearly set forth. It provides that upon the petition of 200 or more legal voters of a county being filed with the county clerk thirty days prior to any county election praying that the proposition of erecting or completing a monument or memorial building in honor of its soldiers and sailors at the county seat be submitted to a vote of the people of such county at the next coming county election. Such proposition shall be clearly indicated on the ballot and two spaces left for margin, one for votes favoring the proposition to be indicated by the word "yes" and one for votes opposing the proposition to be indicated by the word "no" as in the form herein given.

The elector shall designate his vote by a cross mark thus (x) and no ballot which has not a cross opposite the word "yes" or "no" shall be counted either for or against the proposition.

If a majority of all the votes cast upon the proposition are in favor thereof it shall be the duty of the county board of such county within one year after such election to appropriate sufficient funds to erect a suitable monument or a suitable memorial building and purchase a site therefor if necessary, at the county seat, in honor of its soldiers and sailors.

If a memorial building is erected it shall be under the supervision and control of the county board and it shall be lawful for the county board to permit use of such building as it deems advisable.

It is the earnest desire of the Grand Army that a full vote be cast in favor of the proposition. Women as well as men may vote on the same.

he was still at heart a Democrat, but that neither he nor any other patriotic American could support Wilson. Whether, however, he would be willing to actively support Hughes he said he could not say at that early date.

"With best wishes for the success of your campaign, I am,"

"Sincerely Yours,"

(Signed) "Charles Harvey Bailey." "This," continued Senator Lodge, "simply throws an additional light on the shifty character of this administration in its foreign policies. It is also of interest in another way for it apparently shows that Mr. Bryan's reason for resigning was the highly creditable one of objecting to have his signature go out appended to a document differing in an essential point from the one which he had signed."

Noted Socialist and Editor to Speak Here Monday Night

Fred D. Warren, former editor of the "Appeal to Reason" will speak at the Court House Monday evening, Oct. 30th, at 7:30 p. m.

For fifteen years Mr. Warren was managing editor of the "Appeal to Reason," and built up the circulation from almost nothing to more than one half million.

In all of the battles fought by labor on every industrial field during that time Mr. Warren went to the assistance of the workers with his paper. He fought the special interests, the subservient courts and the crooked politicians.

But in all of his criticisms he warned the working people of the futility of mixing in capitalist politics, and pointed to the only solution that he stood for as a Socialist.

Mr. Warren is more nearly the statesman than any man who has been, or will be here during this campaign.

Basis Suggested For Commercial Lighting Would Mean Some Increases—Defect Will Be Ironed Out—Record Checking Work Begins This Week.

Since the compromise rates were presented at the conference in Springfield last Tuesday with reference to the Jacksonville rate case, various consumers have been busy with figures.

In adopting a schedule of rates it is customary to outline them according to the so-called step or block system, which has been in effect in the past, the larger consumer pays at the same rate for all current used, whereas by the block system proposed the larger consumers will pay the same rate as the small consumers for the first 150 kilowatt hours, and then the lower rate will apply to added consumption.

Costs Greater For Some

Evidently from this cause a number of consumers have found that under the proposed schedule the cost to them will be greater than under present charges. All bills for residences would be lower and the instances of higher rates occur in business houses. For some days the Jacksonville Railway & Light company has had accountants at work going over this schedule and figuring out just what the proposed rates will mean, especially with reference to business houses, the previous month's bill being taken as the basis.

Supt. Gray yesterday admitted frankly that not until the last day or two had he realized that in some instances the proposed rates would make an increase. The way the added cost of coal would be secured by so changing the rates that an additional income of $9,000 would be earned, was done in the rate department in Peoria and had not been figured out in detail here. Instead, the sum total has been given consideration. It was realized from the figures that more than $10,000 annually would be saved the Jacksonville consumers but it was not seen that in individual instances there would be increases.

Change of Plan Considered

The committee has the matter under consideration and it is possible that some other change of schedule can be outlined which will prove satisfactory to the larger consumers and work out in such a way that they and all the others will be benefitted by the proposed change.

A representative of the state utility commission was here Saturday looking over the company's books in a general way and it is understood that other representatives of the commission will come this week and that lists of consumers will be made and figures worked out on the basis of last month's consumption, showing what the comparative charges are under the present and proposed rates.

The point in the new schedule referred to can properly be considered a defect but does not by any means indicate that the proposed plan will fail. It is just a question of working out further details, and as all parties to the matter are in a very amicable mood
there is every prospect that a satisfactory understanding about this item will be reached.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBED VINOL

To Restore Strength To This Weak, Nervous Woman

Many fair-minded doctors prescribe Vinol because they know of what it is made, viz: beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones, and glycerophosphates with a mild tonic wine. They know these are the oldest and most famous tonics. Read the result in Mrs.
Mason's case.

"I keep house for my little family
of two, and got into a weak, nervous, run-down condition. I was tired and weak and did not know what ailed me. My doctor prescribed Vinol. I noticed an improvement before I had finished the first bottle, and I am now feeling fine and doing all my housework." Mrs. M. S. Mason, 203
Passaic St., Trenton, N. J.

Every weak, nervous, run-down person, feeble old people and delicate child in Jacksonville should try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails to benefit.

SOME FARM THEMES

The Rawlings Farm in Rhode Island.

John Rawlings of the east part of the county has returned from a visit with his son, Roy, in Rhode Island. Some time since The Journal published extracts from a whole page write-up given the young man by a daily paper of Providence. The young man bought 1000 acres of practically abandoned land for $5 an acre and went to work on it with improved methods and soon became the wonder of that whole region. He has brought up the place so much that he refused an offer of $15 an acre. In addition to the farm he runs a water power mill for grinding corn into a peculiar kind of meal or flour and sells the product as fast as he can produce it and is thinking of shipping in corn to keep the establishment going.

He has a 50-acre field of corn which is the wonder of the community and all who pass that way.
They do things there generally on a small scale. A threshing outfit gets out 100 to 120 bushels of grain a day. A man ordinarily goes into his cornfield with a chair, a basket and sacks, throws the corn into the basket, dumps it into the sacks and in the afternoon takes a single rig out into the field and gathers his corn.
It was worth $1.35 a bushel when
Mr. Rawlings was there.

Land Shows Good Advance

One of the most interesting farm sales recently recorded was that of Frank Arthur to Lloyd Hankins. The tract of 47 acres is a mile north of Jacksonville on what is known as the Diamond street road. The purchase price was $11,000. Mr. Arthur bought this property about 11 years ago and paid practically $100 an acre for it. He has made some improvements and has kept up the fertility of the soil. Mr. Arthur and daughter expect soon to go to California for the winter.

Brought Good Prices

One of the sales in the Chicago livestock market this past week was made by George Swain of this county. He shipped 22 fat cattle that averaged 1,437 lbs. and sold at $11 a hundred. He also sold 25 Herefords that averaged 1,230 lbs. and brought $10.90. Mr. Swain is one of the feeders of Morgan county who has year after year followed the business successfully. He follows continually the same plan and has never had reason to deviate.

NOTABLE BASEBALL HAPPENINGS IN 1916

Four no-hit no-run games were pitched in the big leagues—three in the American and one in the National. The pitchers who performed these brilliant feats were Leonard of the Red Sox, against St. Louis; Foster of the Red Sox, against Washington; Bush of the Athletics, against Cleveland, and Hughes of the Braves, against Pittsburgh.
Grover Cleveland Alexander, the great pitcher of the Phillies, set up a new "whitewash" record by pitching 16 shutout games. The old mark was 13, held by Mathewson.
Zach Wheat of the Brooklyn Robbins, made one or more safe hits in 29 consecutive games. In the 29 games he poked a total of 45 safeties.

In losing 20 straight games the Athletics tied the American league record for consecutive defeats. The Mackmen also hung up a new mark for defeats in one season with 117 games in the lost column, against 113 registered by Washington in 1904.

Jimmy Walsh and Meldon Wyckoff, traded by the Athletics to the Red Sox, were the only pastimers to leap from a tail-end outfit to the world's champions.

"The 'iron man' stunt, or pitching and winning two games in one afternoon, was performed by four big league twirlers. They were Davenport of the Browns, pitching against the Yankees; Peritt of the Giants, against the Phillies; Alexander of the Phillies, against Cincinnati, and Demaree of the Phillies, pitching against the Pirates.

Outfielder Eddie Messer, the former Pirate, playing this year with the Spokane Northwestern league team, took part in 114 games and handled 239 chances without an error.

Kouze Kirkman, outfielder of the St. Joseph team of the Western league, made 32 hits in 39 times at bat. Ty Cobb, in 1913, set a record of 31 hits in 39 times up.

The St. Louis Browns won 14 games in a row, the best performance in the American leagues this season for consecutive games won.
One of the "big thrillers" of the season was staged in Boston August 17, when the White Sox took the count at the hands of the Red Sox, 4 to 1, in 15 innings.

Every club in the American league, with the exception of the Athletics, led the race for at least one day. Cleveland, New York, Boston and Washington were up there most of the time, while the others enjoyed the privilege for shorter periods, including ties.

GRAND WEDNESDAY

If one half the good things one hears of "Twin Beds" are true, then local theatre-goers are in for the treat of their lives at the Grand Wednesday, Nov. 1st, when this deluge of laughter comes to town under the direction of A. S. Stern and Company. "Twin Beds" has to its credit one solid year in New York, six months in Australia and it has already reached its second year in London. Productions are soon to be made in Paris, Berlin, Petrograd, Rome, Madrid, South America, South Africa and Japan.

The characters about whose idiosyncrasies and misfortunes "Twin Beds" revolves are all distinct portraits, each of them enjoyable without end, each familiar to even the most restricted experience. Lonely little Blanche Hawkins, newly married, ingenious and sociable, moves into an apartment with her husband, a home loving young business man. Above them live a pair married for ten years, Signor and Signora Monti, and below them a pair even more newly married than the Hawkins—the Larkinses. With them lives Norah, a paragon of an Irish maid. The jumble which follows upon Blanche's cordial invitation to all of them to join in a party in her new apartment, and upon Harry's avoidance of his visitors, and upon consequent interchange of visits, make the three acts of "Twin Beds" enormously rich in human incident.

Clean, wholesome comedy comes into its own again with the advent of "Twin Beds", which proves by its exceptionally easy popularity that the public wants real situations, real humor and real characterization instead of a panorama of suggestive scenes. "Twin Beds" is replete with bright lines, characters who act like human beings and blessed with a wholesome and optimistic philosophy on apartment house existence in general and married life in particular.

MORGAN CO. SOCIETY

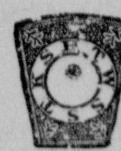

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Hill were hosts to the Morgan County Medical Society at Jacksonville State Hospital Saturday evening. The main feature of the evening was an address by Dr. H. Douglas Singer, head of the Psychopathic hospital at Kankakee.

Dr. Reid, president of the society presided and introduced Dr. Singer. The speaker's subject was "The Infection-Exhaustion Psychoses." He handled the subject in an able manner and his address was heard with great interest by those present. Dr. Singer's address was entirely impromptu but he has had wide experience along this line of study and was able to tell his hearers of a number of interesting cases that had come under his observation. At the conclusion of the address he was asked a number of questions and several physicians entered into the discussion informally.

The guests were then invited to the dining room where an elegant banquet was served. Here the doctors who always give their patients advice about eating late dinners and drinking coffee proved that they did not heed their own advice to any great extent.

At the conclusion of the banquet Dr. Hill spoke a few words of appreciation for himself and Mrs. Hill expressing pleasure at the opportunity of entertaining the society. The guests in addition to the host and hostess were: Drs. Reid, Ogram, Piner, Milligan, Crouch, Thompson, Cole, Haigrove, Dewey, Adams, Rosenthal, Myers, Strickler, Smith, Jones, Chapin, Stacy, Peterson, Canatsey, Weirich, Duncan, Atherton, Bradley, Hardesty, Melin, Singer.

DEMOCRACY'S CAUSE

Famous Orator Told Local Audience All About the Administration's Achievements.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis spoke before a large audience at Armory hall Saturday evening. It was designated as Wilson day in Jacksonville and it was the occasion of the firing of democracy's biggest gun locally.

While there was a large audience yet many were Republicans, attracted no doubt by the stories of Senator Lewis' eccentricities and stories of his whiskers, vests and neckties. Senator Lewis brought the whiskers along and also the vest but his necktie was a plain black one.

Judge Owen P. Thompson introduced Senator Lewis. Judge Thompson spoke briefly giving unstinted praise to President Wilson and Governor Dunne.

There is no question about Senator Lewis' ability as a speaker. He has a wonderful command of language and an easy presence and delivery. In his opening remarks Senator Lewis referred to his first visit to Jacksonville on the occasion of the Bryan banquet at which he was one of the speakers. He also told of becoming acquainted with Hon. W. H. (Buck) Hinrichsen when Mr. Hinrichsen was congressman from Illinois and Senator Lewis was congressman from the state of Washington. Senator Lewis said that he was in Jacksonville on the present occasion because he had requested to be sent here.

The senator was in excellent voice and made beautiful introductory remarks. He painted a description of the European war in vivid word pictures. But that is what all of the Democratic speakers are going this year, each in his own way. After playing up the fact that this country is at peace Senator Lewis launched into a defense and eulogy of President Wilson and his administration. All of the good things that have happened he credited to the president. All of the bad things he credited to the Republicans. The speaker was frequently greeted with applause. Not so much from what he said as the manner in which he said it. From a Democratic standpoint the speech was a gem and all those present were immensely tickled and left the hall with the idea that it is only a question of how big the Democratic majority will be.

OPEN AIR SCHOOL METHODS DESCRIBED

Have Important Place in the Educational System—The Glacklin Fund

The Open Air School is one of the most advanced educational methods of dealing with physically subnormal children. Started as an experiment in some of the larger cities, this method has shown such beneficial results that it is being taken up by smaller cities all over the country. For a city to close its Open Air School after trying the experiment, would unquestionably be a step backward. So far as we know, this has never been done. On the contrary, when once an Open Air school has been established in a city, its methods have spread to the other school buildings and have largely modified their methods. This does not mean simply giving a more liberal supply of fresh air. The aim of the open air school is curative and stimulating. Its workers would build up and cure the little body that is under-developed and perhaps diseased and also stimulate dormant mental faculties and give more than the average of time and attention to those children who are for any reason behind their fellows in the race of life. For this more—much more is needed than fresh air. Medical supervision and care, warm clothing, wholesome food; all these are essential to the success of the effort.

This departure in educational methods is, it is true, more expensive than ordinary school work, but is it not worth while? Here are children who under ordinary conditions would not be able to be in school at all: who must lose entirely or in great part the advantages of an education: the instruction and discipline, and the training in social cooperation which are of inestimable value to the coming citizen. The School Board of Jacksonville, convinced of the need of the Open Air School in our city, is furnishing the teachers, at somewhat more than the average per capita rate. The Anti-Tuberculosis League is furnishing the working outfit, the special nurse and the medical supervision and treatment. Neither the Board nor the League can furnish, out of their regular funds, the food for the children, which will cost for the year several hundred dollars. It is because of this that the Open Air School committee of the League is asking the co-operation of generous citizens in meeting this expense. The Glacklin Fund, voted by the citizens of any city or county, may be used when it becomes available for furnishing food, and even clothing, for children with incipient tuberculosis. It is because we believe such supplies to be helpful and necessary that we ask you to vote for the county Glacklin Fund, which will distribute the expense among ALL the citizens, in amounts so small as to be almost unnoticeable.

There are many children outside the Open Air School in the general wards in Jacksonville and in the country schools who need this supplementary food, to build up the system until it is strong enough to resist disease. It is those who are below par, weakened and anaemic, who are generally the first to contract any contagious disease. These children then act as centers of contagion in the community, and particularly in our schools. To start them on the road to health, to build up their powers of resistance, is in the best way to safeguard the whole community. More rather than less of our children should be in the Open Air Schools, where they may have constant medical supervision, and the sympathetic care of specially trained nurses and teachers. And also, more of our regular school buildings should have fresh air rooms, and supplementary provision for children who are in any way below par. In many cases the proper wholesome food and suitable clothing, the fresh air, rest, and greater freedom of movement, are all that are required to give the physical and mental stimulus which will bring them up to the normal average.

The success of this method of treatment in cities where it has been tried is so marked, that the movement has spread with amazing rapidity. Whereas ten years ago there was in Pittsburgh one lone experiment-station, there are today eight hundred Open Air schools of greater or less size and prominence in the United States; and their methods have been adopted in hundreds of regular school buildings all over the country. The remarkable record made in the Jacksonville school as shown by the report of the Medical Director, proves the utility of our work here. It has been a revelation to many of us as showing what can be done along this line, even with crude appliances and insufficient funds. It is no longer an experiment. Would it not be better to build and equip for it a commodious and thoroughly up-to-date building in a suitable location—a center of child-conservation? It might be, if we like, one of the show-places of our city—an adopted child rather than a poorly housed and shabby half-orphan. Let us think of this when we vote for the Glacklin Fund on Nov. 7. Let us think also of the needs of the county at large, which are quite as urgent as our own. This fund has already been voted for Jacksonville itself, but Jacksonville citizens are

FATHER OF PRESENT DAY WEATHER BUREAU DIES

PROF. CLEVELAND ABBE PASSES AWAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Death of Famous Meteorologist Recalls Interesting Details of Early History of Weather Forecasts.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Prof. Cleveland Abbe, known as “the father of the weather bureau” died here today after an illness of a year.

The present-day system of daily weather forecasts, with which every portion of the United States, however remote, is now thoroughly familiar, is the outgrowth of a weather-prediction service which Cleveland Abbe established locally in Cincinnati, O., when he was the director of the observatory there, in 1869. The death of this famous meteorologist recalls some interesting details of this early history of weather forecasts.

The son of a New York merchant, and born December 3, 1838, Cleveland Abbe became an instructor in mathematics and astronomy at the University of Michigan in 1860, and during the Civil War period he was an aide at Cambridge, Mass., to Dr. B. A. Gould, then astronomer of the United States Coast Survey. The years 1865-66 he spent in Russia at the Imperial Observatory as guest of the resident staff of observers there, and on his return to the United States he was chosen director of the Cincinnati Observatory.

In the beginning his astronomical work at Cincinnati, in May, 1868, Prof. Abbe expressed to the Chamber of Commerce of that city his willingness to make daily predictions of the weather for the benefit of the citizens. His proposition was accepted, and the work actually began in September, 1868, by the publication of a daily bulletin of weather, telegrams and probabilities.

The success of his scheme led some of his friends to introduce a resolution calling upon Congress to establish a national bureau of storm warnings for the benefit of commerce. This bureau was established by joint resolution of February 4, 1870 and its conduct was entrusted to General A. J. Myer, then chief signal officer of the army. He adopted into his weather bureau all the important features of Prof. Abbe's work at Cincinnati and in January, 1871, invited him to come to Washington as his scientific assistant.

The regular tri-daily issue of “probabilities” began in February, 1871, and was kept up by Prof. Abbe until others could be trained for this service. These forecasts were published throughout the country anonymously as official documents, and the cognomen of “Old Prob.” which had been invented in Cincinnati, was soon widely applied to their author.

From that time on the weather service extended yearly until the United States bureau came to rank first among such services in the world, and Prof. Abbe himself came to be known as one of the world's foremost meteorologists. It was largely due to this initiative that the successive advances in the service, such as ocean meteorology, the prediction of floods in rivers, the publication of the monthly weather review, the adoption of civil service, examinations in meteorology, the introduction of uniform standard time, and innumerable other steps, were taken.

Even when past 70 years of age, Prof. Abbe continued in the government weather service to edit the Monthly Weather Review and make other contributions to meteorological science. He was the recipient of a gold medal from the Royal Meteorological Society of England, member of the National Academy of Sciences and numerous foreign and American scientific bodies.

INDIANAPOLIS DRIVER WINS GOLD TROPHY

JOHNNY AITKEN ADDS TO HIS LAURELS AS SPEED DRIVER.

New York, Oct. 28.—Johnny Aitken of Indianapolis added to his laurels as a speedy automobile driver by winning today the gold trophy race of 100 miles on the Sheepshead Bay track. His time for the distance was 56 minutes, 37.65 seconds, establishing a new American record only seven seconds behind the world's best time. Aitken's average speed was 105.8 miles an hour. Frank Galvin finished in 56 minutes, 45.31 seconds, and Howard Wilcox third, in 57 minutes 10.53 seconds. Aitken made one stop to change a tire, delaying his about thirty seconds.

Aitken led at ten and twenty miles. Dario Resta then took the lead, holding it to the fifty-eighth mile. Resta then went to the pit and changed a wheel tire in twenty seconds, but when he reached the back stretch on his sixtieth mile he was forced to retire by a broken crank shaft.

Galvin drove a careful race all the way and was leading at eighty miles, but from the ninetyth mile to the finish Aitken outpaced him.

Wilcox went to the pit in the forty-sixth mile to renew a tire. He had been in third place for the first forty miles and regained the position at seventy miles and retained it to the end.

Henderson was fourth, Devote fifth, Benedict sixth and Hughes seventh.

The cash prizes for the first six drivers were $4,000, $2,500, $1,500, $1,000, $600 and $400.

In addition several lap prizes amounting to $3,000, were awarded to the leaders from the tenth to the nineteenth mile.

Eleven cars started in a fifty-mile consolation race for a prize of $1,000. This was won by Jules Devine, the French driver. Milton was second and Meyer third. Winner's time, 28 minutes, 49.59 seconds.

NORTHWESTERN DEFEATS DRAKE

Grinnell 10, Coe 0.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Oct. 28.—The Grinnell football team won from Coe 10 to 0 today, when Rust fumbled on Coe's 30-yard line in the third period and Rafferty made a 25-yard run for a touchdown. Augustine kicked goal and in the fourth period kicked a field goal from Coe's 40-yard line.

Northwestern 40, Drake 6.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 28.—The Northwestern University football eleven continued its winning streak today, defeating the Drake University eleven 40 to 6, in one of the speediest contests ever played on the Northwestern field. Coach Murphy of the purple squad used twenty-seven players, giving his stars a chance to rest after a safe lead had been rolled up. C. I. Grand fractured his ribs in the last period and had to be carried off the field. Thomas, who replaced Smith at center for Northwestern, and Strong, center for the visitors, were put out of the game for exchanging blows.

Princeton 7, Dartmouth 3.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 28.—Altho completely outplayed at almost every angle of the game, Princeton defeated Dartmouth here this afternoon by a score of 7 to 3. Eddie Driggs, the Princeton fullback, individually was responsible for the victory of the Princeton eleven.

Dartmouth started a hard offensive drive toward the Princeton goal line in the third period. Driggs intercepted a long forward pass thrown by Grierson on Princeton's 30-yard line and raced along the margin of the side the remaining 65 yards for a touchdown. Tibbott kicked the goal after the touchdown. Dartmouth's score was made in the second period on a placement kick by Captain Grierson.

During the most of the four periods of play Dartmouth had Princeton on the offensive.

Minnesota 67, Iowa 0.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 28.—The State University of Iowa football team went down to defeat here today before the powerful attack of the University of Minnesota eleven by the decisive score of 67 to 0. At no time did the visiting players endanger the Minnesota goal line.

With a varied rushing offensive, in which deceptive formations, spectacular forward passes and smashing line drives were intermingled Minnesota marched the ball steadily forward.

Skill displayed by the Gophers in handling forward passes shot with speed and accuracy from Wyman to Bastin for long gains, was the outstanding feature of the game. "Galloping" Joe Sprafka raced thru gaps in the Hawkeye line for consistent gains. Minnesota was penalized a number of times for offside and for holding.

Right halfback Davis was the star of the Iowa team.

Yale 26, W. & J. 14.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 28.—Yale met its first real test of the season successfully today by defeating Washington and Jefferson 26 to 14, for the first time in three years. The Pennsylvanians attempted 52 forward passes, 27 of which were completed for a total of 274 yards. Yale completed five out of six attempted passes for a gain of 56 yards.

Yale made five touchdowns, kicked three resultant goals and Legore contributed a field goal from the 30-yard line.

The visitors' first score came after four long passes had brought the pigskin from midfield to the two-yard line, where an easy touchdown was made.

The second touchdown was also easy for a Yale penalty of 15 yards had brought the ball to within an inch or so of the line. Smith, the Yale quarter, made a great run of 55 yards for a touchdown, after catching a punt and dodging and squirming thru the entire visiting eleven.

The four largest contributors were Harry Payne Whitney, who gave $30,000 and R. T. Crane, Jr., of Chicago, Arthur Curtis James and George F. Baker, Jr., who gave $25,000 each.

Mr. Bliss said that a "unique feature of the financing of the Republican national campaign had been the 'success of the effort to popularize the giving' of funds.

"Whereas four years ago," he said, "the contributors to the Republican national campaign numbered slightly more than 2,000, this year the total number is 22,226. For some time past $20 checks for sustaining membership contributions have been coming in at the New York headquarters at the rate of at least 500 a day. On Oct. 23 we received more than 13,000 such checks.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES

Mr. E. M. Poteat, one of the traveling secretaries of the Student Volunteer Movement, was a visitor on the campus Friday and spoke at the chapel exercises.

John C. Irwin will be the leader at the devotional service Sunday evening. The subject will be "The Second Mile."

President Rammelkamp will attend the exercises connected with the inauguration of President H. M. Crooks at Alma College, Michigan, on Wednesday.

Mr. R. I. Dunlap, treasurer of the Alumni Fund, recently received a check for one hundred dollars for the establishment of a perpetual "In Memoriam Membership" in the Alumni Association for James H. Blodgett, '53. Mr. Blodgett died a few months ago at his home in Washington, D. C., where he had been living for a great many years. After teaching school and after honorable service in the Civil War, Mr. Blodgett became connected with the United States Department of Agriculture. Mr. Blodgett was well known as one of the most loyal and honored alumni of the early years. Hardly a year went by that Mr. Blodgett did not in some generous, practical way remember his alma mater. The action of his family in establishing this membership will be greatly appreciated by the alumni of the college.

In accordance with a resolution passed by the Alumni Association last commencement, A. T. Capps, president of the Alumni Association, has appointed the following committee to co-operate with the president's office in preparing a new address list of living alumni and former students of the college: A. D. Fairbank, '00; Edward Capps, '87; H. J. Dunbaugh, '99; R. I. Dunlap, '03, and I. B. Potter, '11. A printed list of about four hundred "lost" alumni and former students will be sent out with the Alumni Fund report with requests for information.

The students of the college enjoyed a Halloween party Saturday night. The introduction to the party was a very interesting illustrated lecture on Alaska, given in the chapel by Miss Maria Fairbank. After the lecture the students adjourned to the gymnasium for a social diversion.

Mrs. Daniels' Report of Illinois W. C. T. U.

Greetings from the women of the state to every white ribbon woman in Morgan county were brought from Joliet by Mrs. Hattie B. Daniel, who was in that city October 17-20, to attend the convention of the Illinois Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Daniel has long been identified with W. C. T. U. work here and in the Murrayville vicinity and as delegate to the state gathering she had especial opportunity to hear of the successful activities elsewhere in promotion of the temperance cause. Mrs. Daniel's report follows:

"There had been several changes in the by-laws and one in the State Constitution that effects us very materially. Last year the five year limit was removed, regulating the term of office of the state officers. There was a strong effort made this year to remove the limit for the county officers, but the motion was lost, as was the motion to send ninety-five cents of the one dollar dues to the state, instead of leaving twenty-five cents in our local treasury. The office of auditor was dropped, and Mrs. Belle Goodman was elected treasurer, instead of auditor.

One of the most important changes in the by-laws is that all local superintendents report to their county superintendents, and each county superintendents report to the county president who in turn reports to the state superintendents.

Tuesday was filled with the executive meeting, evangelistic prayer service and branch conferences—but we all gathered together, Tuesday night, in the Ottawa M. E. church and enjoyed a delightful program and banquet. The Joliet High School orchestra was a delight to us all, throughout the convention. The hearty welcome from the mayor, pastors, club presidents, teachers and editors together with the most excellent care given us by the Federated W. C. T. U. and the kindly hospitality of those who opened their homes to us, made us quite happy and comfortable.

In the Richard Street M. E. church at the close of a prayer and consecration service, conducted by Rev. Mary L. Moreland, the 43rd annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was called to order by Miss Helen L. Hood, president.

The reports of executive committee and corresponding secretary, with the president's annual address, occupied the greater part of the morning. Dinner and supper were served each day by the different churches.

The afternoon session was largely given to the conference of prison reforms. It was most instructive, and we were well pleased to know that our own women had been large factors, not only in trying to prevent crime, but in the great Golden Rule movement, they stand in the front ranks in every reform. When we were privileged to visit the penitentiary on Friday we knew that God had used every source of "brotherly kindness" in church and state to better conditions, spiritually, morally and physically, and that dear old Illinois had passed from the age of barbarism, when it was "an eye for an eye," and "a tooth for a tooth," and a "life for a life," and even worse, a living hell for a lifetime, and had become a training school for good citizenship. May God speed the day when both church and state can look every man and woman in the eye, and say, "I have no part in your crime, or misery, for I have shut out every temptation from your pathway, and lived as I wanted you to live." The exterior of both prisons is most beautiful. The Woman's prison is more sanitary, as it is a newer building, and is modern, very neat and clean, has a domestic science kitchen where the women are taught the best methods of cooking; a school room where those who are illiterate are taught—the common branches of the public school; the laundry is a credit to any institution; the cells were well lighted and comfortable, and very neat and clean. Of the forty-five women, only one was locked in her cell. The others were in the kitchen, laundry, sewing room or corridors, or if in their cells, the door was open and they were sewing, knitting or crocheting.

In the men's prison, there still is room for improvement, as part of it is old, built before any modern ways were thought of, but it was exceptionally clean. There is a great need of larger and more sanitary cells. We visited the work shops and saw some fine chairs and other furniture. After our return to the main building we were taken to the chapel where we had a rare treat. Warden Zimmer had the prison band give us some splendid music, and then he told us of the work that they were trying to do in fitting the men to be useful citizens when they went out into the world again and when we looked into the faces of the large number of men who were on the honor roll, we knew the work had not been in vain, for there was no look of the criminal about them.

One sweet voiced boy, sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold," with such pathos, that we all wept. We felt that the two splendid chaplains, had much to do, toward the uplift of the moral and spiritual life of the men. Then, too, there is a large library, which the men use to great advantage.

A pleasing event was when Warden Zimmer presented to Miss Hood a gavel, made by the boys from a piece of hickory, which he had gotten at Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington. We never had cause to be more proud of our Helen Hood, than when she so graciously accepted the gift, and addressed the men in a speech that any statesman might be proud to utter.

After both men and women joined in singing "America," we went back to our Convention, more determined than ever to banish the cause of crime and want and woe. He had Mrs. Ella A. Boole, our National Vice President, also State President of New York, with us all day Wednesday and in her address at night, she told us of the splendid work in Alaska.

Thursday, was full to the brim. Aside from the response of Superintendents, election of officers—all of the general officers were re-elected, except treasurer—Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch gave us a call, on her way to Springfield, and said many good things in favor of suffrage.

With the consent of the president Mrs. Mary Dolley of Lebanon, gave a plan whereby women would further the National Prohibition movement, and yet make no material change in the result of either of the old parties. A Republican can secure the pledge of a Democrat, or a Democrat secure the pledge of a Republican, to vote the Prohibition ticket—it does not change the relative vote in either of the old parties and yet, gives two votes for prohibition—not with the least hope of the third party being elected, but with the view of compelling one or both of the old parties to add the prohibition plank to their platform. There was no action taken. Mrs. Carman stated that the Grand Diamond Medal contest was the best that she had ever had, in the seventeen years that she had been superintendent. There were three girls and three boys, and they all seemed perfect to me. "The Young Men of Today" was the piece that won the medal.

One of our rare treats was the boys band, which gave us such fine music Thursday afternoon. It belongs to the public school, and is composed of fifty five boys, from nine to fourteen years of age. There are seventeen different nationalities represented. Joliet is a beautiful city of 40,000 inhabitants and 140 saloons.

The two chief industries are the steel works and the Calendar Factory, each of them have over 2000 in their employ.

I think that I forgot to state that there were 1724 men in the prison. Also that there were 217 delegates to the convention, beside visitors. There was so much of interest that I will tell you, when I talk to you. You will be pleased to know that Morgan county had a gain of thirty one new members.

Yours "For God and Home and Native Land," Hattie B. Daniel.

VIRGINIA WILL SOON BE DRY TERRITORY

State Wide Prohibition Takes Effect Next Tuesday at Midnight.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 28.—Another of his Southern strongholds is about to be yielded up by John Barleycorn. Promptly on the stroke of 12 next Tuesday night the liquor regime in Virginia will come to an end and the banner of the "drys" will be raised throughout the length and breadth of the state. In adopting state-wide prohibition the Old Dominion has fallen into line with Alabama, Mississippi, West Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas. The winning of "the solid South" has long been the aim of the prohibitionists. The capture of Virginia has advanced them one step nearer the goal of their ambition. Preliminary skirmishing has already taken place in Florida and Louisiana. A general attack on these two states will be made just as soon as the time seems ripe. Then will come the "big drive" on Kentucky, where the liquor interests are supposed to be more strongly entrenched than in any other state of the union.

The Virginia prohibition law, which was passed by the general assembly and received the signature of Governor Stuart last March, absolutely prohibits the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within the state. While the law does not embrace some of the extreme provisions adopted in other states, it is sufficiently drastic, if properly enforced, to put a quietus on the liquor traffic.

Common Carriers to Record Liquor Shipments

All distilleries, breweries and wholesale and retail liquor establishments will be forced to close. Thirsty Virginians will be permitted to import their liquor from other states, but such importations will be limited to one quart of whisky a month. The law requires the express companies and other common carriers to keep a strict record of all liquor shipments and such records are to be open to the inspection of the authorities.

The Attorney General already has given evidence of an intention to place a strict interpretation on all provisions of the law that were open to question. Among other things he has decided that, since the law prohibits the manufacture and sale of malt liquors, it shall be unlawful to manufacture or sell any malt drinks, whether or not they are intoxicating. This decision sounds the deathknell of the so-called "near beer" traffic which has sprung up in other prohibition states and been

Saloons Ready for Big Business

The saloons are counting upon doing a record business during the few days remaining to them. Customers who believe in "preparedness" are expected to stock up in anticipation of the coming dry spell. However, the saloons and the distillers and breweries as well, are under a severe handicap in carrying out their plans to unload vast quantities of liquor before the law comes into effect. Unless they are able to make a pretty close calculation of the volume of their business they are likely to come out a loser.

for the law requires that all of their stock remaining undisposed of must be loaded on the cars and started out of the state by midnight next Tuesday night. Just how they will supply their trade and yet manage to have a very small stock left on hand on the last night, is a problem that the liquor dealers are now trying to work out. In the meantime the "wise ones" among the tipping brigade are holding off in the expectation that there will be some great bargains in booze offered over the bars during the last hours.

Breweries Converted Into Manufacturing Plants

So far there are few signs that there will be any great upset in business on the throwing of any large number of men out of employment, as was predicted by the anti-dry element in their arguments against prohibition. Arrangements have already been made to convert several of the largest breweries and distilleries in the state into manufacturing establishments of other kinds. With more than eight months' notice of the impending change the vast majority of the employees have found new employment and will begin work Nov. 1. Little disturbance in business is anticipated in Richmond, Norfolk, Lynchburg and other cities where the most of the saloons now exist. It is reported on reliable authority that the most of the properties now used for saloons in these cities have been rented to new tenants at advanced rentals.

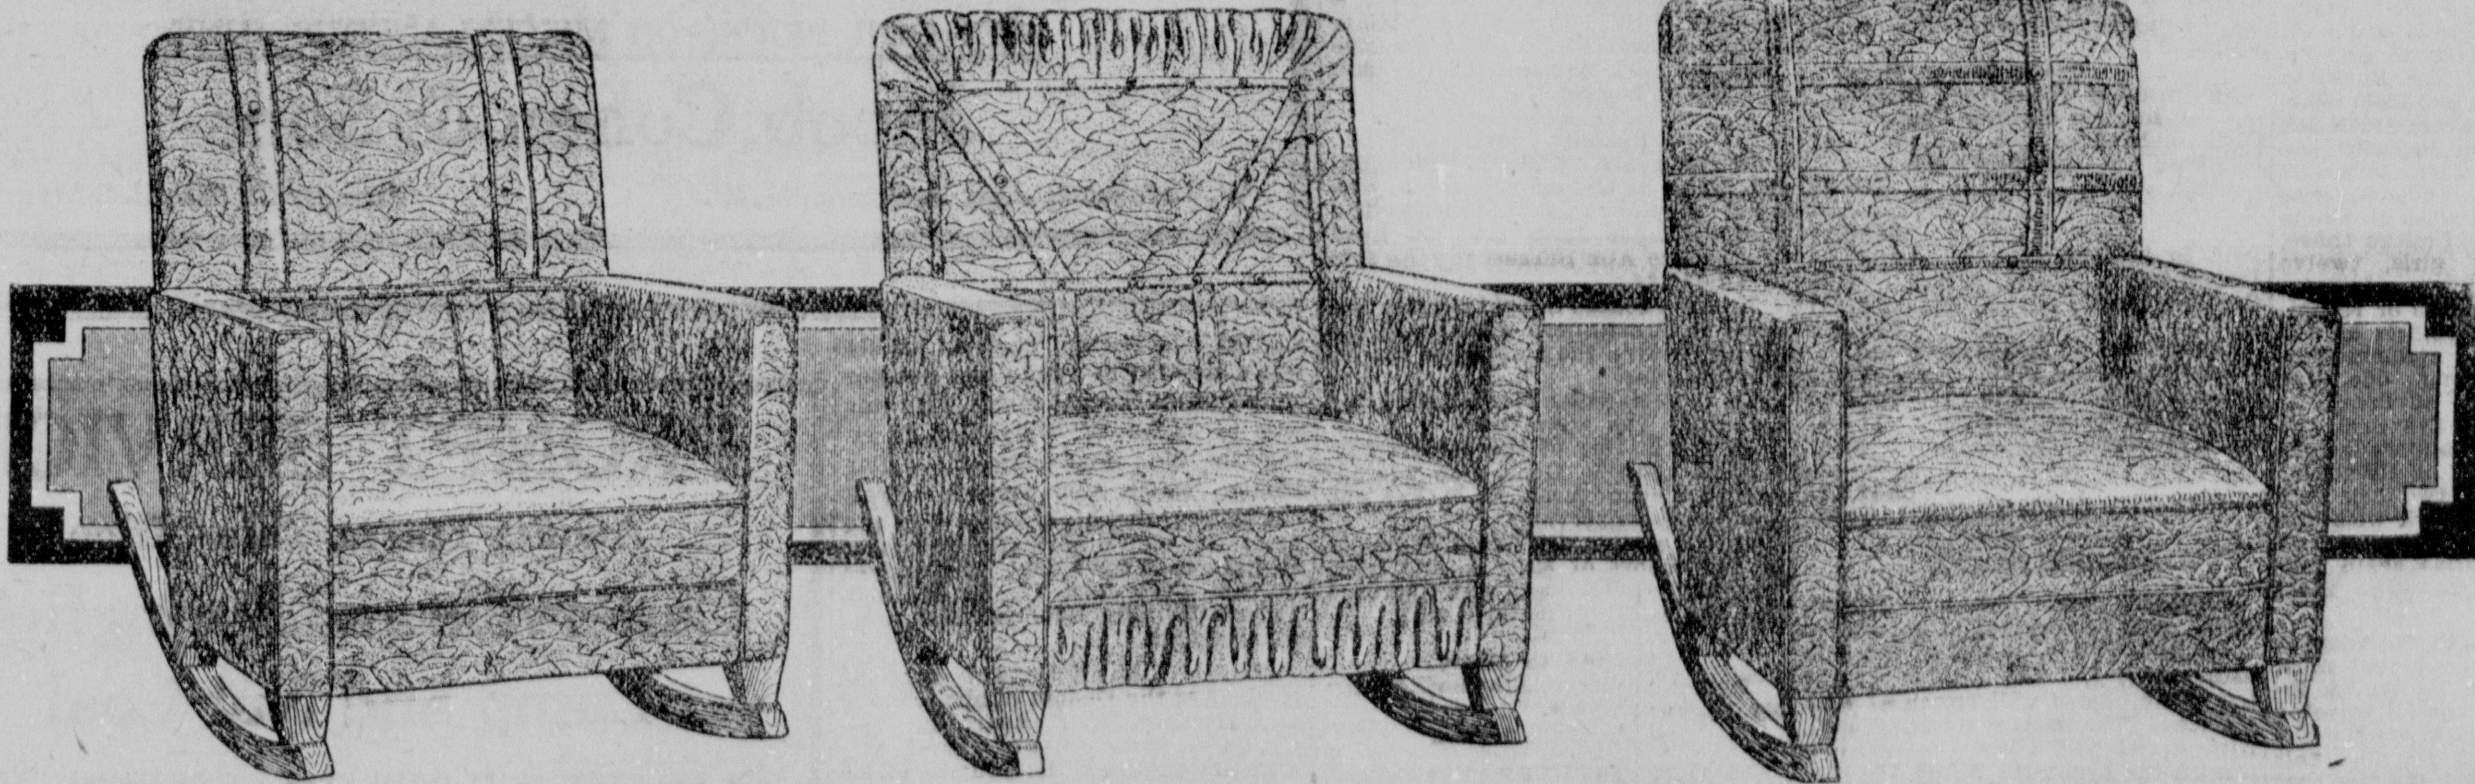

NOTICE OF EXAMINATION.

The examination for teachers' certificates will be held in the office of the county superintendent, Thursday and Friday, November 9 and 10. All persons wishing to take the examination are required to file application blanks. Saturday, November 4, will be the day for filling and filing blanks. For further information call on or write H. H. Vasconcellas, county superintendent of schools.

The Ladies Education Society Year's Work

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Education Society was held with the president, Mrs. W. H. H. King. No special program was given and the time was occupied with the regular business of the society. The following reports show the work of the society for the past year.

Secretary's Report.
This annual meeting brings us to our 33rd anniversary, and there comes as always in these later years the thought that few societies of this kind have for so long held their identity and continued to do the work for which they were founded. It was pioneer work in those first days, training young women of the West for teaching, and the society has had part in pioneer work in the education of women thru many of the years since. A report of thirty years ago records assistance given to girls in a nurses' training school, a medical school, a business college, and in preparation for kindergarten teaching. And so as the education of women has developed, our work has developed. Today it is often the expense of a special course in addition to a public school or college education which we are called upon to meet.

The selection of our beneficiaries is made broadly speaking on the same basis as eighty years ago. One of the secretaries of the very early days wrote: "The society in choosing its beneficiaries reaches over all denominational lines, and has respect only to capacity for mental improvement, a desire for an education and indigence." Today we choose from the same broad field.

It is with sorrow that we have to write into our records of the year that we have lost thru death of one of our members, Mrs. Cornelia Sanders. Her gentle presence in our circle we shall greatly miss. It is with a deeper sense of loss than we can put into words, that we remind ourselves we are now without any of those whom we have in recent years been wont to call the "older members" of the society.

In these days of many club meetings, it has come to be understood that our society shall hold its sessions only at such times as the business of the association requires attention.

We have under this plan met five times during the past year. We have given assistance from the Education Society fund thru the past school year to nineteen girls. For one of them it was the fourth year that aid had been given; for three, the third; for four, the second year; and eleven received aid from us for the first time. The schools where tuition or part tuition was paid, were as follows: Illinois Woman's College; Conservatory of Music; Illinois College; Hillsdale College, Mich.; Bellevue College, Nebraska; Ohio Wesleyan.

Within the last year three loans of $100.00 each have been made from the Bannister Fund; one to a Jacksonville girl wishing to get additional training at the Business College here, one to a girl from Vandalia, Ill., who after three years out of high school wished to enter the Blackburn College and one to a girl from Winona Lake, Indiana, who wished to take special work on Home Economics in Winona College there. Of these twenty-two girls, twelve have been received as beneficiaries thru the acquaintanceship or recommendation of some members of our society; two upon the recommendation of Dr. Rammelkamp; one thru the recommendation of President Stooky of Bellevue; five thru the solicitations and recommendations of Mrs. Arda Jackson of Hillsdale; and, for the first time, two thru Miss Rose McLeod, whose work with the needy girls in the South may we hope, bring us sometime again into touch with those girls who most need our help.

We are familiar with the reasons why our aid has been needed; most often it is a too limited family income to pay for the special training often necessary to fit a girl for the work she must undertake, and this year in not a few cases, the fact that the girl is already entirely supporting herself, and so needs help in meeting the expense of college training.

No important changes have been made in the general conduct of the business of the Society during the year. The plan of recent years to have the girls themselves make the application for aid has been more closely adhered to, and has helped us to know a little more intimately those we are helping. There has been a feeling that some of the rules governing the Bannister Fund might be modified to better meet the needs of the present time, but they have not been definitely altered in any way.

At one of our meetings we enjoyed the pleasure of having as a guest, Miss Lucy Catlin, who told us of her work in a social service department of a hospital in Youngstown, Ohio. She added also to our funds a gift of $10.00 in memory of Miss Margaret Catlin's birthday. This amount was by vote of the society added to our principal instead of being used for the current expense of the year.

We close our record of the year with a sense of benefits received, for certainly the hearty words of thanks from students and the knowledge of the efforts which some of them are having to make to gain their training, have made our work seem worth while.

In 38 years there was an average of 43 deaths each year or one death from tuberculosis every 8.4 days.

Where can the people who are dying of tuberculosis in Morgan County be cared for? The only up-to-date tuberculosis sanitarium in Morgan County is at the State Hospital for the Insane.

Table IX. shows that 52 2-5 per cent of deaths for 38 years were between 20 and 40 years of age. Estimating a life as worth $5,000, it has cost Morgan county $4,270,000 to lose these consumptives in the 38 years; that is a cost of $307 per day.

If 5 be allowed to the family there would be one death from tuberculosis to every 4 families. How far did this miss your family?

A conservative estimate is that one tuberculosis case will infect 5 healthy people.

If one case of hoof and mouth disease is found in the county, what would the state and county do, regardless of expense?

If infantile paralysis showed this death rate, what would you say?

What are we doing to prevent tuberculosis in Morgan County?

I. We have an open air school in Jacksonville.

II. We have a school nurse in Jacksonville, who sees that the children of tuberculosis tendencies go to the open air school.

III. We have a free clinic in Jacksonville for those sick of tuberculosis. We should have one for the county.

IV. We have a public health nurse in Jacksonville who cares for the tuberculosis sick in their homes. We should have one for the county.

The fight against tuberculosis in the county is at present mainly supported by dues from the Anti-Tuberculosis League members, gifts from interested friends, sale of Red Cross Seals and Two Hundred Dollars granted by Morgan County.

What ought we to do to prevent tuberculosis in Morgan County?

We ought throughout the county to care for those sick of tuberculosis; to cure those who can be cured; to isolate all open cases which are centers of infection in the community. We ought, in other words, to work for the prevention of consumption. It can be prevented. Let us try it out in Morgan County. If we don't do something more effective than has been done, 43 of us will die of this preventable disease in this year. The statistics of the State Board of Health show 32 deaths from tuberculosis up to September 1st, 1916.

More money is needed to carry on this work. Morgan County needs a sanitarium in which to care for its tuberculosis patients.

The Glackin law provided funds for such sanitariums. It provides that this fund may be used in any way which shall prove most effective in the fight against tuberculosis.

To prevent it; to arrest it; to cure it.

Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months was a well woman after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a midwife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."

WHAT IS THE BASIS OF OUR PRESENT PROSPERITY

"With the suspension of 'war business' there will be an inevitable reaction; falling of prices, curtailment of output—and with them many problems which manufacturers, merchants, business men and our people generally will have to face," says E. B. Leigh, president, Chicago Railway Equipment Company, in an article in the current issues of the Railway Age Gazette.

Mr. Leigh has always maintained that railway purchases are an index of general business prosperity. That the railways are not buying supplies in normal quantities at the present time is a temporary disturbance of the relationship. Says Mr. Leigh:

"That we are enjoying so great a measure of 'prosperity' in the face of the fact that the railways have not been and are not now, buying in normal quantities is in no sense a contradiction of the doctrine that 'railway purchases measure general business prosperity.'"

"Railway purchases have been and still are much below normal; while the basic industry 'steel and iron,' has found this new and enormous outlet for its products, thus, for the time being, completely distorting the relation of iron and steel to railway requirements, and the relation of railway purchases to general business prosperity."

"The new outlet for the products of the iron and steel industry is, of course, that opened by the foreign demand occasioned by the war in Europe, and the suspension of this demand will undoubtedly be accompanied by a reaction."

The article is accompanied by a significant diagram illustrating the accuracy with which the volume of railway purchases reflects general business prosperity under normal conditions of business. Measured by the same standard the diagram shows no less clearly the abnormal character of general business since the latter part of 1914, when conditions resulting from the war in Europe began to make their influence felt upon American industry and commerce.

Mr. Leigh asks: "What is the basis of our present prosperity? To what extent may it be attributed to war business? And if chiefly to the latter, what will be the result of the suspension of 'war business'?"

These questions are in part answered by Mr. Leigh's diagram, which takes as its basis the index to general business conditions issued by Brookmire, a St. Louis statistician. Upon the basis of Brookmire's chart covering the fluctuations in general business from month to month since 1904, Mr. Leigh has projected a line indicating the fluctuations in the purchases of railway car equipment during the same period and extending up to about the middle of the current year.

In general, the fluctuations of the two index lines above and below the normal followed the same course. In 1905 and 1906 both lines were far above normal. In the latter part of 1906 the line representing railway purchases "broke," railway purchases having been checked by the money panic from which recovery only began in the spring of 1908, the line of general business did not break until about the middle of 1907 and began to recover simultaneously with the index line of railway purchases. Subsequently, in 1908 and thru a part of 1909, railway purchases were curtailed on account of unfavorable legislation; in 1911 the line sinks below the normal, a decline which Mr. Leigh attributes to the ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission against increases in freight rates; there was a slight recovery toward the latter part of 1912, and a further decline in 1913 and 1914, attributed to the delay of the Interstate Commerce Commission in announcing its decision in the matter of freight rates; and the final slump to the lowest point reached up to that date—in the fall of 1914—marking the unsatisfactory decision in the Western Rate Advance case.

Mr. Leigh says:

"Examination of the chart will show the relation existing between 'railway purchases' and 'general business prosperity' under normal conditions; also, wherein this logical relation of cause and effect has been sustained even in the presence of more or less abnormal conditions—these abnormal conditions thus only emphasizing the fundamental principle."

"The relation between these two lines had, broadly speaking, followed the normal course, not only up to and thruout the year 1914, but almost to the close of 1915; for it is well known that the effect of the feverish growth of the 'munitions' business was not felt until the latter part of 1915."

"But at this time the most striking feature of the chart is found in the sharp divergence of the two lines, 'railway purchases' and 'general business conditions,' with the advent of the full tide of war business."

It was then that the tremendous absorption of the iron and steel production of the country employed in the manufacture of munitions, etc., (a large percentage of which had heretofore been used by the railroads); our vast exports of the many essentials both of peace and war which Europe could not produce; the radiating effect thru so many lines of production—all combined to carry the volume of 'general business' to an unprecedentedly high point entirely out of harmony with, or relation to, normal conditions."

Beginning with the latter part of 1915, the line representing railway purchase takes a downward course, reaching in the middle of 1916 the lowest point since 1904, while the line of general business goes as sharply upward to a point higher than before reached in the years covered by the diagram.

"There is, however," Mr. Leigh adds, "one present-day condition which may be likened to the silver lining of the cloud: Our railways, sorely pressed for additional equipment and other necessities which they are unable to buy because of prohibitive prices for materials or the practical impossibility of securing deliveries, may come into the market to an extent that, in some degree, should offset the otherwise disastrous effect that such a cessation of 'war business' would entail. Unless the railways are encouraged by a logical revision of some of our laws affecting them, and are given the ability to finance their reasonable necessities, then the reaction is certain—modified only to the extent that we may find new outlets for our products, just as we have in the 'war' condition."

the money is accumulating and Harvard is waiting.

NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS TODAY.

(October 29)

Queen Marie of Rumania, upon whom many responsibilities have fallen, in the way of directing war relief activities among women, because of her kingdom's entry into the war, is 41 years old today. The queen is one of the most beautiful and original of European royal women. She was born Princess Marie of Edinburgh, in Kent, England, and lived at the English court till her sixteenth year, when her father went to Germany to reign over the Duchy of Saxe-Soburg-Gotha. A year later she was married to Prince Ferdinand of Hohenzollern, who two years ago succeeded to the Rumanian throne. Princess Marie, and later Queen Marie, has always been beloved of the Rumanians. She enjoys dressing in the picturesque Rumanian native dress, to furnish her palaces in Rumanian style, and her tactful appreciation of Rumanian things in general has endeared her to the nation. She has five children, the eldest of whom, Crown Prince Carol, is twenty-three. The second, Princess Elizabeth, is betrothed to Crown Prince George of Greece, and the third, Princess Marie, is mentioned as a possible match for the youthful Prince of Wales.

Congressman George H. Tinkham of Massachusetts, 46 years old today.

Dr. Clark W. Chamberlain, President of Denison University, Ohio, 46 years old today.

Will M. Cressy, actor and playwright, 43 years old today.

Dr. Arthur Yager, governor of Porto Rico, 58 years old today.

Rose Stahl, popular actress and vocalist, 46 years old today.

GRAND OPERA AND SPAGHETTI. New York, Oct. 28.—Grand opera and spaghetti are two of the attractions to be offered at the great Italian bazaar, which opened at the Grand Central Palace today for a week's engagement. The purpose of the bazaar is to raise money for the Italian Red Cross and for the dependent families of Italian reservists.

The grand opera will be from the throats of the many of the prominent artists of the Metropolitan Opera company and the spaghetti will be served in twenty-nine different ways by chefs of New York hotels and restaurants.

More than half a hundred actors and actresses now appearing in Broadway successes also have contributed their services. The United Theatrical Clubs have a booth at the bazaar, and it will be in charge of prominent members of the professional Women's League, the Lambs, Players, White Rats, Priars and other organizations.

David Corey, writer of children's books, will preside over the Michael Angelo booth and Giovanni Caratti, Italian sculptor, is in charge of the art section of the bazaar, which includes many noted paintings and sculptures lent for the occasion.

Hundreds of visitors, including many well known social leaders, attended the formal opening of the bazaar this afternoon. Comte Macchi di Cellere, Italian ambassador to the United States, presided over the opening ceremonies.

SERVICES AT ASBURY.

There will be services this evening. Sunday school will be at 10 a. m., with preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:15 p. m. by the Rev. Mr. Towle.

Mrs. Sarah M. Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Seymour, Mrs. J. H. Roberts, Miss Grace Roberts, R. R. Wood and Lawrence Ryan were in the city Saturday from Franklin.

Quality First

After Nov. 30, it will cost you just $70 more to buy a 7-22 Chalmers. But the price of the 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers remains (for the time being) $1090 Detroit

Until midnight of Nov. 30 you can get a 7-22 Chalmers for $1280 Detroit—a car of rare ability, fascinating in body equipment, and, like a beautiful woman, of exquisite charm.

After that date the price becomes $1350 Detroit—$70 more. The $70 is just a few dollars less than the increase in cost of manufacture of this car since its appearance in June.

To those who have longed for the 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers—and have not yet possessed one, just a word of warning: the price remains unchanged just now—$1090 Detroit; we do not know how long this low price will continue. We reserve the right to increase the price without notice.

Only those who are buying materials such as go into high-grade automobiles can begin to realize the steady, upward trend of the materials market.

Just one condition today prevents a rise in price of the 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers—the fact that these cars are being made on a factory "work order" dating back several months.

Since the "work order" went through materials have jumped in cost again. When the current "work order" is completed and if materials remain at their present level or rise higher, only one course will be possible, an increased price.

Those who have been driving Chalmers cars know how diligent has been the Chalmers effort to set down cars of the quality kind.

They will understand how impossible it would be for Chalmers to dodge the increase-in-materials issue and maintain the prevailing price on the 7-22 Chalmers.

Lower the quality of the Chalmers car? Never. The Chalmers men take great pride, not only in the money the car makes for them, but in the car itself. And pride, as everyone knows, is a thing that can never be compromised.

It would be like Tissot trying to paint a picture to fit a price.

As long as there's a name "Chalmers", there will be a quality car, and as long as there's a quality car there'll be a price fixed—not by the Sales Department—but by cost accountants.

And there'll be a fair deal. Chalmers says these two 3400 r. p. m. models will be continued into next season. You can bank on that. So that a Chalmers car you might buy now will be exactly like the one you would buy next spring.

Remember the $70 you can save now by anticipating the rise in price. There's an old Scotch proverb that says "A dollar saved is a dollar earned". $70 buys a good suit of clothes, a good pair of shoes, a good hat and some good gloves. Also it just about pays your dues at the club for a year.

Or, if it's a 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers you want, our advice is to get one now.

We are not sure the price is going up and we are not sure that it isn't.

ACIDS IN STOMACH
SOUR THE FOOD AND CAUSE INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Fixes Sour, Gassy
Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite;
but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.—Adv.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC

At the concert on Tuesday evening, celebrating the centennial of Centenary church, Miss Rena Lazzelle, of the voice faculty, Miss Eloise Capps violinist, and Mrs. Canatsey a former graduate of the College of Music, appeared on the program.

The lecture on Wednesday night on Lohengrin by Mr. Stearns, was very largely attended by students, faculty and friends from town. Five records from the opera were played upon the victrola and these with the two numbers for organ, The Vesperspiel and Introduction and Bridal chorus from the third act, gave a very adequate idea of music from the opera. A large number of students and faculty purchased tickets for the performance.

The aesthetics of music class is growing rapidly. The class meets Tuesday evening from 8:00 to 9:00 and is discussing the aesthetic basis for musical appearance. It is open to all who wish to join with the payments of a small fee.

Men and women who ignore the daily increasing public sentiment against indulgence are today ostracized from the best social and business circles. Better arrange to take the Neal Treatment in the privacy of your home or nearest Neal Institute. It will cleanse your system, create a loathing for liquor and restore natural appetite, sleep and normal mental and physical conditions in a few days.

For full information call or address the Neal Institute, Springfield, Ill., near Country Club.

MOTHER! DON'T TAKE CHANCES IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Clean Little Liver and Bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups made by the "California Fig Syrup" up plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is Company's.—Adv.
